LONDON, Aug. 15.—The German Seventh Army lashed out in a desperate attempt to break the Allied trap in Normandy today but was turned back by a heavy crossfire of Allied bombs and shells after a number of tank and infantry units succeeded in escaping to the east. British United Press war correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported tonight that the massed guns of the Canadian, British and American armies were spreading panic, fire and death along the high-ways funneling through Falaise, where the Nazis had attempted their breakthrough.

Complete Count

Social Credit Wins 51 Seats In Legislature

Premier Ernest Manning's Social Credit government will seat 51 members in the next Legislature, it was revealed today after complete returns from all 49 provincial constituencies were tabulated by officials.

Total opposition membership in the new Legislature will be six—three Independent party representatives, two from the CCF, and one Veterans' member.

Three Social Credit candidates were declared elected Tuesday, in Vegreville, Okotoks-High River, and St. Paul ridings.

In Vegreville, Michael Poshak was declared elected by Returning Officer J. M. Dineen, after second count showed he received 1,923 votes, compared to 1,480 for William G. Forsythe, CCF party candidate. Peter Tynchuk, Labor-Progressive party candidate, was eliminated on first count, losing his $100 election deposit.

St. Paul constituency returned J. W. Beaudry, K.C., to the Legislature for the third successive term. Mr. Beaudry defeated J. A. Beaudry, CCF candidate, and Dan Gamache, Labor-Progressive.

Edmonton Airmen Shoots Down Nazi

AN ADVANCED RCAF AIRFIELD IN NORMANDY, Aug. 15.—(CP)—The Canadian Spitfire wing personally led by Wing Cmdr. Dal Russell, D.F.C. and Bar, of Westmount, Que., raised its score of enemy aircraft destroyed by seven within a 48-hour period by shooting down four more Nazi planes Saturday during a sweep in the Dreux-Falaise area, it was announced yesterday.

The latest offensive by the high-scoring wing began last Thursday when three enemy machines were destroyed by Russell's wing during an afternoon sweep near Alencon, 50 miles north of Le Mans.

Saturday's victories were scored by FO. E. G. Lapp, of Medicine Hat, Alta., and FO. H. A. Crawford of Edmonton. On the same operation, Lt. Lt. Art Tooley, of Winnipeg, damaged a Focke-Wulf 190.

FO. Harvey A. Crawford, veteran of three and half years in the air force, is overseas for his second tour of operational flights. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Crawford, 10545 125 street.

He went overseas for the first time in May, 1941, and returned to Canada September, 1943, with three German planes downed, and two damaged, to his credit. He returned overseas after leave at home in Edmonton and instructional duties in the east, and is again on operations as a Spitfire pilot.

Well-known in Edmonton sport circles, FO. Crawford was educated at Westmount High school. His father is mine superintendent at Lussac.

NEW INVASION IS WORST KEPT SECRET OF WAR

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(CP)—The invasion of southern France was perhaps the worst kept secret of the war. Thousands of Frenchmen and Allied soldiers knew it was coming. Correspondents in Normandy and Brittany were constantly asked about it both by Frenchmen and soldiers.

Mostly French Units in Landing

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(CP)—The BBC said today that "it is officially stated that the French troops predominated in the landings in Southern France."

Spanish Radio Says Canadians With Invaders

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(CP)—The Spanish radio (Radio Nacional) said today that one of the first Allied landing craft to arrive on a beach in Southern France "was loaded with Canadians and French soldiers."

The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission. The first landing craft reached the beaches at 8 o'clock French time (2 a.m., C.D.T.), and that "two hours later 2,000 men from seven invasion ships set foot on France."

"By 1 p.m. 15,000 soldiers of Gen. Wilson had landed in France and German security troops had begun to react," said the report.

There was no amplification of the reported landing of Canadian troops beyond the initial phrase saying that the first landing barge "was loaded with Canadian and French soldiers."

French Airmen Aiding Invasion

WITH ALLIED AIRFORCES ATTACKING SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Flying Frenchmen of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and sister squadrons, unleashed their thunderbolts over their native land today, supporting the Allied sea and airborne invasion which struck France's southern shore.

Each pilot of the fighter planes, which had tricolors painted on the tails, carried a leaf, from a tree in France, next to his heart, as he flew.

The French major who commands a fighter-bomber group supplied the leaves. He was strafing a train over France not long ago and swept so low he hit a tree. But the powerful plane plowed on through and brought him back—with a big bunch of leaves decorating his plane. He divided them among his fellow-pilots.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Allied bomber and fighter forces totaling more than 3,000 planes attacked a score of German aircraft nests in the Reich, low countries and Paris area today as the RAF and USAAF continued their aerial campaign to neutralize the Luftwaffe over the twin invasion areas of France.

The raiders lost only 18 bombers, 16 of them Americans—and the bulk of them failed to see a single enemy plane in the sky.

More than 1,100 RAF and RCAF Lancaster and Halifaxes with fighter cover dropped 5,000 tons of high explosives on five airfields in Holland and four in Belgium used by enemy night fighters. All nine attacks were "very effective," the air ministry announced, listing two bombers as missing.

AMERICAN RAIDS
Meanwhile a fleet of nearly 1,000 American heavy bombers, accompanied by upwards of 750 Allied fighters, struck seven enemy air force bases and three airbases in Germany.

"It is considered probable after Mr. Churchill's visit and discussions in Italy that an Allied landing will also take place in Yugoslavia."

Allies Several Miles Inland, Enemy Resistance Is Weak

ROME, Aug. 15.—Large Allied invasion forces struck into Southern France from sea and sky today, and within a matter of hours over-ran the Germans' feeble shore defences and established firm beachheads along a 100-mile strip of the Mediterranean coast between Nice and Marseille.

A mile-long sky train of gliders and transport planes swept in over the coast before dawn to shower thousands of British and American paratroopers across the rolling hills behind the Nazi coastal defences, and the main assault force splashed ashore from landing craft at 8 a.m.

Between the two forces, the stunned Germans were rendered helpless almost without a struggle.

"By mid-morning all the landings were proceeding successfully according to schedule, against only light ground opposition and no air opposition," a communiqué by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced.

"The supporting air-borne operation was also successfully executed."

British and American paratroopers and air-borne infantry spearheaded the assault and the troops which made the landing were put ashore by an armada of transport, guarded by British, Canadian, French and other Allied warships.

STRIKING INLAND
Reports trickling back from the thousands of Allied fliers who swept unchallenged over the beaches said the invading army was striking swiftly inland, in a drive aimed to the northwest at the Rhone Valley, less than 30 miles west of Marseille.

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—Two powerful Soviet armies forged a huge arc around East Prussia from the Niemen river to the southern approaches of the Masurian lakes today with one salient within less than 15 miles of German soil.

Driving northward through the Biebrza marshlands in a move to by-pass the Masurians, Gen. Georgi Zhukhov brought his 2nd White Russian army into the fortress city of Osovets in the closest thrust to German territory from the south.

At the northern end of the tightening 135-mile semi-circle, Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's 3rd White Russian army was battling

Eisenhower Warns Against Expecting Early Victory

AN ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS COMMAND POST IN NORMANDY, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower warned today against expecting that the end of the European war would come in a matter of weeks. At a press conference the Allied supreme commander summarized the situation in one of the war's most critical periods—for the Germans.

"This week is marking a very definite climax in one phase of the operational plan that has been in effect since D-day," the supreme commander said. "Just what will be the result in the sum total no one can say."

"It is certain that German forces congregated on our front are taking a sound beating. In the campaigns lying ahead numbers of such tactical victories must be won because, even if we realize our fondest hopes in a situation such as this, we are still a long way from the Rhine."

"All of us are keyed up to keep on intensifying our efforts to the Continued on Page 2, Col. 8

Report from Beachhead

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Allied troops invading southern France were several miles inland this afternoon, a broadcast from the invasion beachhead said.

The broadcast was made by Eric Sevareid of CBS, representing all American networks. Sevareid gave his location as "a pine-covered hill several miles inland from the French south coast."

"Only a few lives were lost" in the landings, Sevareid said.

"It is now very quiet here," he related. "Where the Germans are now, the bulk of them, I cannot tell you, but you may find out very suddenly."

Spain's national radio said 15,000 Allied troops had landed in southern France by 1 p.m., five hours after the first assault. Two thousand men landed from seven invasion ships between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., said the Spanish account, reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

Commission report on the basis of discussion.
MUST WORK TOGETHER
"It is obviously desirable," said Mr. King, "that the conference should, if possible, be held between the governments that may be in office during the next few years, the governments that will be living together and will have to work together."
He added that his chief reason for holding the conference after a general election was to ensure its success.
"What above all else is required to make the conference a success is a co-operative attitude on the part of all governments concerned," he said.
He referred to correspondence from various provincial governments and also to a radio speech of Premier Brown in which he quoted the premier as having said:
BRACKEN FOR PREMIER
"My one ambition in the political field outside of Ontario is to see an end as soon as possible of the weak and incompetent government in power at Ottawa today and to assist in every way I can to secure that John Bracken (national Progressive Conservative leader) is the next prime minister of Canada."
Mr. King added:
"Such being the declared aim of the premier of Ontario it must be apparent that any conference held before a federal election would have little or no hope of success, and would almost certainly prejudice the success of a subsequent conference."
Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative leader, rose to say that Mr. King's reasons "might properly be called excuses."
Mr. King replied that he would let the record stand.
"Mr. Graydon: 'You said all you could in regard to the premier of Ontario.'"
SAID ALL NECESSARY
Mr. King: "I said all that was necessary."
Shortly after the last item of business was passed and Mr. King walked out of the house to a din of desk thumping from his supporters, some of whom threw order papers into the air.
Mr. Graydon had the last word: "A nice farewell, Mr. Speaker."

headquarters already had been established "several miles inland," indicating that the advance was progressing swiftly. He reported that the units in his sector were "predominantly American."
One observation plane flew 60 miles inland without sighting any large German troop concentrations, but later reports said Allied planes were dive-bombing Nazi tanks attempting to reach the coast.
Gen. Wilson, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, declared that his forces would sweep the Germans from their path, march northward through the heart of France and join up with the Allied armies closing in on Paris from Normandy.
"Victory is certain," he proclaimed in a ringing message to the people of France. "Remember 1918."
Even as Wilson's armies stormed ashore, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French Committee of National Liberation broadcast a call to arms to all of France, ordering patriots throughout the country to rise against the Nazi occupation armies.
"LAST BLOW" NEAR
"The last blow is about to be struck," the Committee declared.
The first special Allied communique announcing the success of the landing carefully masked the principal assault points in an obvious attempt to spread further confusion among the German coastal garrisons.
Berlin broadcasts, however, said the main weight of the invasion fell upon a rocky 16-mile stretch of coast extending westward from St. Raphael, 15 miles southeast of Cannes and 68 miles west of Marseille, to Cape Camarat.
Hundreds of gliders ferried additional air-borne troops into southern France after waves of paratroops had secured landing areas.
Headquarters said the Allies advanced "tactical surprise" as the Germans had anticipated landings farther south around the mouth of the Rhone.
Even as the huge armies were swarming ashore, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French Committee of National Liberation issued a ringing call for a nation-wide uprising of the French people against the German occupation forces.
Supreme Allied Commander Wilson, who landed in the Mediterranean, proclaimed that his forces were invading southern France "to drive off the Germans and to effect a junction with Allied armies advancing from Normandy."
"Victory is certain," he told the French people. "Remember 1918."
GREAT INVASION FLEET
The big invasion armada of British, Canadian, American, French, Dutch, Polish, Greek and Belgian warships, transports and other landing craft sailed from ports in Italy, Corsica, Sardinia, Sicily and North Africa in calm, clear weather and put their cargoes of men and machines ashore exactly on schedule under cover of a terrific naval and air bombardment.
The naval formations also cleared out minefields and knocked out enemy ships in the way of the armada. The naval commander ordered the assault "pressed home with relentless force," a naval communique said.
A broadcast from one of the beachheads said seven waves of infantry landed in the first two hours of the invasion against a "minimum of resistance" while one company of the first wave ashore reached its initial objective in less than an hour.
FEW CASUALTIES
"An NBC correspondent reporting from the beachhead said 'Nearly all of our men are alive.'"
While the first announcements did not indicate specific landing points, Allied planes directed their main weight of explosives in the final phase of the softening bombardment against a 15-mile stretch of coast between the port of St. Raphael, 32 miles southwest of Nice and Cap Camarat, 60 miles east of Toulon and 70 miles east of Marseille.
The Allied campaign to smash enemy aircraft bases was coupled with widespread attacks against German battlefield communications and an attack last night by the RAF coastal command on enemy warships in the Grande rade.
Explosions were seen on one destroyer and fires were started on an escort vessel and several transport ships.
Smashing blows were delivered against Luftwaffe bases at Cologne, Osnabruck, Wiesbaden, Ehrenfeld, Frankfurt-Rohrborn, Wilmshausen, Zwickelhahn, Vechta and Mendorf, the first three along the Rhine river and the others in northwest Germany.
The three airbases attacked were at Twente-Einhede in occupied Holland, Florennes in Belgium, and Venlo in Holland.
STRONG ESCORT
Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters in great strength accompanied Fortresses and Liberators, all of which were permitted by clear weather to bomb visually with generally "good to excellent results."
The daylight operations, which were expected to equal yesterday's activity of more than 6,000 sorties, followed widespread night raids on the Germans from France to their own capital.
RAF Mosquitoes carried out the attack on Berlin, while Ninth Air Force Mustangs struck within 30 miles of Paris to block up an ammunition dump.

Rift Occurs in Home Of Cary and Barbara

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A marital rift has occurred in the home of Cary Grant and his heiress wife, Barbara Hutton Grant, and as a result the actor left home for two days, Perry Lieber, a spokesman for the RKO film studio, said today.
Lieber first announced the couple had separated, but later added that he understood Grant returned home last night.
"The trouble still has not been patched up," Lieber asserted.
No comment was available immediately from either Grant or his wife.
TWO PREVIOUS HUSBIES
They were married July 9, 1942, at Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino mountains east of here. Mrs. Grant was wed previously to Alexis Mdivani, Georgian Prince, and Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, former Danish nobleman.
Mrs. Grant, heiress to a dime-store fortune, recently engaged in a controversy with Haugwitz-Reventlow over custody of their nine-year-old son, Lance, whom the father took to Vancouver, B.C., in June.
The month previous, Haugwitz-Reventlow filed a suit here to enforce an order by a British high court of justice which he contended gave him control of the boy's education and rearing. He alleged that his former wife and persons in her household "have used coarse and vulgar language in the presence of Lance."
COUNTER SUIT
She countered last month with a suit to gain permanent custody of the child. Mrs. Grant declared she gave Haugwitz-Reventlow $1,477,697 outright in 1935 and created a trust fund for him. She expressed belief that Haugwitz-Reventlow's departure for Canada with the boy was a manoeuvre to obtain "further" sums from her.
Wed in 1935, the heiress and Haugwitz-Reventlow were divorced in 1941.

Reports Indicate Marshal Petain May Be in Reich

AT THE FRENCH FRONTIER, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Heavily armed guards in streets and hotels kept watch yesterday over a turbulent and restless Vichy through which ran a series of rumors, not absolutely confirmed, but including one that Marshal Petain had gone to Germany.
Whether Petain still was in Vichy could not be stated by persons who left there Sunday. At any rate, he had not been seen. He was known in the most reliable quarters to have sent a note last week to leaders of his "capitulation" that he would not leave willingly. If it should become known that he had departed it could be taken for granted that it was against his will.
Troops guarded all entrances to the town. The streets of Vichy were crowded with policemen, militia and "special police."

Plan to Construct Centres For Forces In All Provinces

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Pension Minister Mackenzie told the Commons last night that it is proposed to construct health and occupational centres in every province.
A start has already been made on some of the centres, one of which will adjoin the new Sunnybrook military hospital at Toronto, Mr. Mackenzie said. The centres will be used to aid men who require assistance in preparing themselves to take employment, and are to be built as quickly as possible.
During the discussion of the pension department Mr. Mackenzie, replying to some questions by Stanley Knowles (C), Winnipeg North Centre, said legislation providing for pensions to widows of veterans of the First Great War who died with a pension of 30 per cent or less, is to be made permanent.

3,000 Planes Attack Score Nazi Airports

Germany, Belgium and Holland, while medium bombers slashed at several other airbases in the vicinity of the French capital.
The Allied campaign to smash enemy aircraft bases was coupled with widespread attacks against German battlefield communications and an attack last night by the RAF coastal command on enemy warships in the Grande rade.
Explosions were seen on one destroyer and fires were started on an escort vessel and several transport ships.
Smashing blows were delivered against Luftwaffe bases at Cologne, Osnabruck, Wiesbaden, Ehrenfeld, Frankfurt-Rohrborn, Wilmshausen, Zwickelhahn, Vechta and Mendorf, the first three along the Rhine river and the others in northwest Germany.
The three airbases attacked were at Twente-Einhede in occupied Holland, Florennes in Belgium, and Venlo in Holland.
STRONG ESCORT
Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters in great strength accompanied Fortresses and Liberators, all of which were permitted by clear weather to bomb visually with generally "good to excellent results."
The daylight operations, which were expected to equal yesterday's activity of more than 6,000 sorties, followed widespread night raids on the Germans from France to their own capital.
RAF Mosquitoes carried out the attack on Berlin, while Ninth Air Force Mustangs struck within 30 miles of Paris to block up an ammunition dump.

LAUDS AIR FORCES
The supreme commander appeared guardedly optimistic over the trend of the fighting and again cited the co-ordination of the army, navy and air forces and their supply services.
Paying particular tribute to the RAF and the USAF, Gen. Eisenhower said the Allies now were realizing opportunities that they had expected to have all through the campaign, because they had expected good weather.
Gen. Eisenhower, said, however, that a man who attempts to measure the length of war remaining in terms of weeks is not attempting to use any logic, but merely hunches and wishful thinking.

Poles Advancing In Adriatic Zone

By JAMES E. ROPER
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Convinced, 1944, by British United Press
ROME, Aug. 15.—Polish troops of the British Eighth army, have captured Monte Vecchio, two miles east of Frontone, the highway junction 28 miles inland from the Italian Adriatic coast which they occupied the previous day, it was announced today.
West of the Polish units, Indian troops in the rugged mountain area north of Arrezzo occupied several strategic positions evacuated by the retreating Germans. The rest of the Italian front was comparatively quiet except for patrolling and artillery duels.
British troops continued mopping up snipers in Empoli in the pocket of resistance south of the Arno river and west of Florence.
German shelling of the southern section of Florence had almost ceased, front dispatches reported.

Reveal 6 Manitoba Soldiers Murdered By Nazis in France

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Revels Monday disclosed the names of three young men who were among the 19 Canadian soldiers murdered by the Germans in Normandy, June 6, bringing the number of Manitobans involved to six.
The men, previously reported killed in action, were Cpl. Frank Meakin, 23, and his brother, Cpl. George, 22, both of Birnie and RPN Robert Mutch, 21, of McCreary.
Manitobans previously announced to have been among those murdered were RPN William Thomas, Elphinstone, Pte. David Gold, Pine Falls, and L-Cpl. Ralph Fuller, Rapid City.
The German communique noted that the Allies landed "after having intensified in the last few days air attacks on defense installations and communication lines in the southern French coastal area." The official announcement said 30 Allied planes were downed in the opening hours.

Record Airborne Force in Invasion

ROME, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Reuter—The record Allied airborne force which descended on Southern France early today consisted of more than 14,000 air combat men. In no Allied operation before had so many men been dropped as this airborne force sent down behind the German coastal defenses.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Births registered during June in cities, towns and villages with population of 10,000 and more numbered 11,802, deaths 4,775 and marriages 6,575, compared with 11,852 births, 4,824 deaths and 7,312 marriages in June last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday. This is a decrease of 0.4 per cent in births, six per cent in marriages and an increase of three per cent in deaths.

Canucks Close 2nd Last Nazi Escape Route

also and the Americans eight miles or less south of the town.

Almost 2,000 Germans inside the trap surrendered yesterday and it was believed that the bag of captives would mount enormously in the next 24 hours.

Inside the trap, Nazi Field Marshal Gunther Von Kluge's Seventh army, plus elements of the 15th army, struggled desperately to maintain a battle line against four Allied armies pressing from the west, north and east.

CANUCKS CLOSE ROAD

The Canadian 1st Army closed one of the two remaining escape roads to the pocketed Germans this morning with a furious charge that overran the village of Epanay, astride the highway leading north-eastward from Falaise to Meisidor and Lisieux.

The Germans broke and fled under the fury of the onslaught by Canadian and United Kingdom troops and front reports said Allied heavy guns were crashing shells on Falaise itself and the remaining highway to the east at the rate of one a minute this morning.

Lt-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's drive was smashing forward along a 10-mile arc within about two miles of Falaise, and British United Press War Correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported that Crerar's Dominion and British troops captured Olendon, Sassy and half-dozen other hamlets on the approaches to the Norman citadel, by-passing and surrounding a number of enemy units in their advance.

BRITISH ADVANCE

British 2nd army forces on the Canadian left chopped through the flank of the German battle screen before Falaise, clearing the last enemy resistance from Thury-Harcourt, and capturing Proussy village just north of the Conde-Falaise road and St. Dennis de Mere on the highway itself.

At the southern end of the escape corridor, American armored forces pounded steadily northward from Argentan, leaving a number of pocketed German strongpoints to be mopped up by the infantry moving up in their wake.

(The BBC said the Americans were meeting stiff Nazi resistance. Argentan itself was still in German possession, the BBC said, indicating that the Americans may have bypassed the town.)

OTHER GAINS

Other American troops were smashing eastward from the Mortain-Sourdeval sector, capturing Domfront after a three-mile advance along the Mortain highway and moving on to clear the Andaine forest, between Domfront and La Ferriere-Macé. Heavy explosions in the area indicated that the retreating Germans were blowing up their hidden ammunition dumps in this sector.

British infantry and tank columns north of the Americans also were pinching in on the western end of the Normandy pocket, driving down the Vire-Tinchebray highway to within about a mile of the latter town.

Only moderate resistance was reported from the west corner of the trap and it was indicated the bulk of the Germans were pulling back for a death battle near the mouth of Falaise-Argentan Gate.

DAZED HUN PRISONERS

Hundreds of dazed German prisoners stumbled through the Allied lines late last night and on through the morning hours today as the Americans, British, Canadians and French drove in for the kill, and the plight of the remaining Nazis appeared hopeless.

British United Press reporters, witnessing the death struggle of Von Kluge's army from observation posts on all sides of the pocket, reported that Nazi positions were blanketed by smoke from burning vehicles and exploding ammunition dumps.

In one sector, they wrote "There is nothing left but a blackened forest of dead trees and charred bodies and rusted hulks where elements of one Panzer division came to an inglorious end."

MOST FACE CANADIANS

The Germans were concentrating the bulk of their 12 shattered divisions along the Canadian first army arc at the eastern end of the trap, attempting to slip as much of their force as possible through the Falaise-Argentan gap.

British United Press war correspondent Robert Miller reported that Allied guns and planes dominated the narrow passage, exacting a terrible toll in men and armor from a beaten but still fighting enemy.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a press conference at his headquarters command post in France that the Germans were "making a sound beating" and that this week marked a climatic point in the Allied operational plans.

He warned, however, against "wishful thinking" that the war will end in a matter of weeks, asserting that the Nazis may choose to fight to the finish and force the Allies to win many more such tactical victories as their triumph in Normandy.

Allied warplanes ran riot over the battle area and the German communications lines to the rear yesterday. About 6,000 aircraft, ranging from fighter-bombers to giant Lancasters and Flying Fortresses struck virtually unchallenged at scores of targets and inflicted widespread damage.

May Not Be Costly Campaign Nazis May Not Have Strength To Oppose New Allied Invasion

By GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

There are reasons to hope that southern France can be wrested from the Germans without too costly a campaign. German troops in the area, where Partisan resistance has flamed strong and fierce, already were threatened with virtual isolation by the Allied drives from Normandy and Brittany to the heart of France and it was considered unlikely Hitler would have left any strong forces to be cut off so far from the Reich.

Bearing out this supposition were reports from the French-Spanish frontier soon after the Allies broke out of Normandy that the Nazis were pulling out of southwestern France.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN

Even before the Normandy invasion it was generally believed that southern France was not so heavily garrisoned as the northern sections which are much closer to Berlin. After the Normandy landings Hitler pulled several divisions from the south in a futile effort to halt the Allied drives.

As an indication of German weakness in the south-western area, for instance, several hundred Maquis raided Bayonne, which once had one of the strongest garrisons in the region, and dynamited a bridge.

Last part of France to come under Nazi occupation, southern provinces have been partisan hotbeds, and these were counted on to aid, from the interior, the landings in the south.

PRINCIPAL CITIES

Principal cities on the French Mediterranean coast are Nice, Cannes, Toulon, Marseille, Avignon, Nîmes, Montpellier, Cette, Beziers, Narbonne and Perpignan.

It is more than 700 airline miles from the Mediterranean coast of France to Berlin and if the Allies are forced to fight all along the way, the route would be difficult.

Almost the only natural avenue for an invasion from the south is the narrow, easily-divided Rhone valley between the rugged Cevennes mountains on the west and the lofty Alps on the east. The route leads about 250 miles to the north before turning eastward toward Berlin. Such a route would have to contend with the one-time French Maginot line which may have been converted by now into a German defence wall.

Robot Casualties Drop

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(CP)—British homes have been damaged at the rate of 700 an hour by Hitler's flying bombs, but the Britons themselves are rapidly learning to dodge the robots, it was shown in a report yesterday that indicated one person was killed for every three bombs launched against Southern England and the London area.

Health Minister H. U. Willink told a Birmingham audience yesterday that fatalities per bomb are down to about one-third compared with the first fortnight of the attacks. He said that in that period deaths averaged about one a bomb.

On Aug. 2 Prime Minister Churchill reported 5,340 bombs had been launched, 4,735 persons killed and 14,000 injured. There has been little respite from the missiles, however, and again for a short time yesterday morning bombs came over the southern counties and London. The early morning attack was followed by the recent customary daylight lull.

All Frenchmen Have Part To Play, People Are Told

ROME, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theatre, told the French people after the landings were made in southern France that the object of the invasion "is to drive out the Germans and join with the Allied armies advancing from Normandy."

Text of his message: "The armies of the United Nations have landed in the south of France. Their objective is to drive out the Germans and join up with the Allied armies advancing from Normandy."

French troops are participating in these operations side by side with their comrades in arms, by sea, land and air. The army of France is in being again, fighting on its own soil for the liberation of its country with all its traditions of victory behind it.

Remember 1918! All Frenchmen—civilians as well as military—have their part to play in the campaign in the south. Your duty will be made clear to you. Listen to the Allied radio, read notices and leaflets, pass on all instructions from one man and woman to another.

Let us end the struggle as quickly as possible so that all France may resume again her free life under conditions of peace and security. Victory is certain. Long live the spirit of France and all that it stands for.

Contract Awarded For Hospital Unit

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Pen-sions Minister Mackenzie announced last night in the Commons that a contract for the construction of the first unit of the Sunnybrook military hospital on the outskirts of Toronto has been let to the Redfern Construction Co. for $2,587,000. Work on the unit which will accommodate 400 men of the final capacity of 1,450, is to be rushed. Mr. Mackenzie said it was expected the second unit could be started shortly.

Army Control Being Set Up in Florence

By BILL BOSS

FLORENCE, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Considerably diminished shooting north of the Arno river yesterday indicated that Partisans are making steady progress in clearing Florence and yesterday they obtained new help in keeping order when 500 members of the municipal guard came out of hiding, put on their uniforms again, and went back to work.

There are still hidden dangers, though, and five Italian workers were killed on the Ponte Vecchio Sunday when they stepped on a rubble-covered mine while helping Allied officials take in food and medical supplies.

Plan to Organize Building Unions On National Scale

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Daniel O'Brien, regional organizer for the Canadian Congress of Labor, in a prepared statement issued here last night, said the CCL will call soon a conference of all building workers' unions connected with the congress with a view to setting up a national organization for the building trades. The statement said the CCL is ready to accept the Amalgamated Building Workers' Union of Canada as an affiliate after ironing out various affiliation details.

House Adjourns To January 31st Of Next Year

lowances, export credit insurance and establishment of an industrial development bank.

The adjournment came at the end of the longest day of the 123-day session. The Commons had started at 11 o'clock the previous morning and had shortened its dinner recess in an effort to complete consideration of a lengthy list of departmental estimates.

Affairs of a number of departments came under review during the day.

During a discussion on Indian Affairs Resources Minister Crerar said preparation was being made for a complete revision of the Indian Act. G. H. Castleden (CCF—Yorkton) suggested that the revised act should make provision for the Indians having a voice in their affairs.

COAL INDUSTRY PROBE

Referring to the government's proposal to establish a royal commission to investigate the Canadian coal industry, Clarence Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) and Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—MacLeod) said the commission should have broad powers to make a complete inquiry of all phases of the industry.

Affairs of the soldier settlement branch were also the subject of some discussion with the House sitting an extra hour in the usual dinner recess.

Earlier, during consideration of external affairs estimates, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said British government representatives at the coming conference in Washington to consider plans for a world organization are fully informed on the views of Canada and other parts of the Commonwealth.

Mr. King said it was the intention that the League of Nations should continue in a limited way until the new world organization was established.

While estimates of the mines and resources department were under review Mr. Crerar, speaking in reply to a question by John Blackmore, Social Credit house leader, said he favored expansion of work on water conservation projects.

POLICY CRITICIZED

The Indian affairs branch was criticized by A. W. Neill (Ind.—Comox-Alberni) for its policy in giving financial assistance to hospitals. Mr. Neill said they had been guilty of "cheiselling" and in his own district it had been necessary for the people to dip into their own pockets to keep the hospital provided with funds.

Manley Edwards (L—Calgary West), an honorary chief of the Stony Indians, said a well-equipped hospital on the Stony reserve had been closed because of the difficulty of obtaining medical assistance. Several hundred Indians were without medical attention except for a doctor on a neighboring reserve some 30 to 40 miles distant.

Land suitable for agriculture should be procured by the government for Indians in areas where fur-bearing animals no longer provided a means of livelihood.

William Bryce (CCF—Selkirk) said while the government had promised Indian education, medical care and living space, none of these promises had been carried out to their satisfaction.

"The Indian will have to be fitted into our economy and the sooner we start the better," he continued.

DAYS SCHOOLS URGED

Day schools should be established on every reservation and outstanding students, helped to work for a university degree. A sound economic basis was the first essential in improving the general lot of the Indian.

Mr. Crerar said he felt progress had been made in dealing with the Indian problem and progress was likely in the future. There was a need for providing the Indians with a means of becoming self-supporting and of building up a desire for self-support.

First Car Alberta Wheat Is Shipped From Bow Island

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—First car of Alberta wheat was shipped by Canadian Pacific lines Saturday by the Alberta Wheat Pool from its elevator at Bow Island, Alta., to Robin Hood Mills, Calgary. A telegraphic report from S. R. Lamb, Canadian Pacific Railway superintendent, Lethbridge, to T. S. Atcheson, the railway's general agricultural agent in Winnipeg, said the wheat, taken from several farms in the district, graded No. 1 northern. Bow Island is 44 miles west of Medicine Hat on the CPR's Taber subdivision.

Blood Tests Urged To Check Disease

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Encouragement of blood testing as a protective measure against syphilis was recommended by delegates attending a national conference last week of venereal disease control officials of the dominion, provinces and armed forces.

"The protection of the family group—wife, children and breadwinner—must be our constant aim," said Maj. J. A. Leroux, Ontario director of venereal disease control. "Premarital, prenatal and pre-employment blood testing can assist greatly in achieving this goal."

Rehabilitation as well as treatment of the "border-line" girl was advocated by Dr. Dorothy Saxton, Vancouver. She urged establishment of rapid-treatment centres along lines found effective in the United States. In one centre which she had visited, Dr. Saxton said she found a program of special training being given to girls while under treatment.

The public would support realistic action in cleaning up unsavory community conditions, said Lt-Col. D. H. Williams, chief of the venereal disease control division, department of pensions and national health, in urging health departments to continue energetic measures.

Welders Strike

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Welders at Burrard South shipyards went on strike yesterday in protest against demolition of a charge hand. Between 100 and 150 men, members of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' union, did not report for work on the second shift, which begins at 3:30 p.m.

"I felt dragged-out all the time"

... because I forgot one simple fact!

"THE children were forever getting on my nerves. Housework seemed never to end! And the thought of going out for fun was just too much for me to cope with."

"It was Kellogg's pleasant 30-day test showed me how a simple change of diet could help me keep fit. Now my house runs like a charm—little upsets never bother me—and the youngsters and I have wonderful romps together. All because I feel like a million—right on top of the world from morning to night."

Make this 30-DAY TEST

1. If you're really fit—see your doctor! But if you're all the time feeling doped and "blue", without real rest for life, chances are you're suffering from incomplete elimination. It's an ever-present danger when you're over 35. Yet there's no need to risk your job, or spoil your fun! Just take this simple precaution:
2. Start now to eat Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning! To keep fit you don't need hard doses, or harsh cathartics that actually may be harmful. Instead, discover the natural way... get plenty of "bulk" in your diet by eating Kellogg's Bran Flakes with Other Parts of Wheat. Gently laxative, they help keep food waste moving promptly... supply valuable minerals and proteins too.
3. Just thirty days, and you'll know you have the answer! Thirty days away from the medicine cupboard, eating a big bowlful of these crisp, delicious flakes every morning, and you should have proved the pleasant way to keep fit. Proved, too, how grand it is to feel alert, to have extra energy to do all the extra things you've always wanted to do!

Keep fit with Kellogg's every day in the year!

LOOK FOR the name "Kellogg's" on the distinctive golden-yellow package at your grocer's. Regular or family size. Made at London, Canada by the makers of the famous Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

Still Another

Still another street car accident has been added to the long list of mishaps which have occurred in Edmonton recently. A car which is said to have been just inspected in the shops crashed into a freight train and only good luck averted serious injury to passengers.

It is unreasonable to expect this good luck to continue. Unless something is done to check whatever is causing these accidents, one of these days there will be heavy fatalities.

It is foolish to believe that accidents just happen. There are always contributing and causal factors. And what those contributing and causal factors are the people of Edmonton are entitled to know.

If the mechanism of the street cars is in bad condition, the public should be told so frankly. If carelessness of employees is at the root of these occurrences, something drastic should be done about it.

The present situation is definitely not good enough. A full investigation into all the circumstances surrounding this series of accidents should be held at the earliest possible moment.

Easier Divorces

There is a general movement on foot across the Dominion, headed by a special committee of the British Columbia Law Society, to secure easier and what are loosely called more liberal divorce laws for the Canadian people.

The proposal is that divorce should be made simpler, cheaper and easier. The view of the committee is that divorce is no more than "abrogation of a contract by law which has come to an end in fact."

This glib definition may satisfy the legal mind. It fails to take into account the fact that marriage is very much more than a mere legal contract on a par with an agreement to purchase land.

Marriage is an institution which creates a home. And the home, which is the unit of society, is the most important establishment in the world. Divorce, then, is something far more than a legal regularization of unhappy domestic circumstances. Each divorce is a minor disruption of society.

Everyone is aware, of course, that there are thousands of people tragically mis-mated. But the cure for that is not to make divorce easier but to make marriage harder.

Most unfortunate marriages are hasty and ill-considered marriages. Couples enter matrimony after an acquaintance of only a few weeks. They enter matrimony under grave, physical and temperamental handicaps.

These are the factors that require to be checked.

If something were done to establish a longer legal interval between the issue of a marriage license and the performance of the marriage ceremony; if it were necessary to produce evidence of fitness to marry, as it is necessary to produce recommendations to secure any position of trust; if physical fitness certificates were universally required—there would be no need to worry about easier divorce as the easiest way out of intolerable domestic situations.

Film Censorship

The validity of a Quebec law forbidding admittance of children under sixteen years of age to moving picture theatres is being tested in an action now before Quebec courts. One point in the case in reference to the power of provincial authorities to censor films will be of interest across Canada to both the film industry and the general public.

Most of the points to be determined in the case will apply only to Quebec. But the argument on censorship appears to have general application in most of the provinces of Canada. The Quebec act is claimed to be unconstitutional because it attempts to confer on a Board of censors the power to condemn a film as immoral and confiscate it. The Criminal Code, claim the theatre management, sees no offense in any picture unless it has been exhibited and then only if it has violated the law and rules of common decency and not merely the private and secret opinion of the judges.

If the final court of appeal in the Empire upholds this contention it will apparently deny the legality of the censorship machinery set up in each province for moving picture films. The first result would be apparently to pass back to the industry itself the responsibility for deciding what pictures violate the rules of common decency.

At present whenever a film is banned for showing in any province there is always the suspicion that the ban may have been the result of a narrow prejudice that would not have the support of the whole community. Court actions are open to the public, decisions are based on legislation and common law. Pictures are viewed by censors in private, some are banned, others out but no explanation is normally given to the public.

A few years ago when a popular news reel feature was temporarily banned in Ontario it was obviously a matter of politics. In other words censorship of movies now involves more than control of entertainment. It may be used against dissemination of ideas and facts. If our present method of film censorship is upset by the privy council it may open the way for a more intelligent solution of the problem.

A Great Opportunity

It may be an over-estimation to say, as has been said, that two million men could be profitably employed looking after the forests in Ontario and in industries for which the forests supply raw materials. But it is not safe to say off-hand that this is an over-statement, for what important industry is there in Canada to which forests do not supply essential materials?

The point at least is clear that Canadians do not realize and never have realized how dependent they are upon the timber resources of the country. When forests are spoken of, lumber for erecting houses and other buildings suggests itself—and the reaction stops there. But what about the pulp and paper industry, which ranks among our great employing occupations? What about furniture, farm implements, tools, and a hundred or a thousand other articles of ordinary use in which wood is used? And what about those large areas of the Dominion where wood is the standard or a supplementary fuel?

Thus far in Canada we have not even adequately protected our forests against fire and insects and have made little more than a gesture at protecting them against wasteful cutting. Plans to preserve in all parts of the country a reasonable proportion of forest land have yet to be framed. As for creating forests where none exist, and replacing those destroyed by cutting and by the elements and forces of nature, scarcely a decent beginning has been made. Yet all the time we are drawing more and more heavily on the remaining supplies of timber within reach of railways, roads and water courses.

Obviously there is a great field for the profitable employment of labor in preserving and creating forests alone; to say nothing about expanding forest-based industries and producing innumerable finished products to ship to countries which have destroyed their forests even more extensively than we have.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1894: 50 Years Ago

Irrigation is having a practical trial at the Blood Indian agency near Macleod. Mr. Wilson has erected a water wheel fourteen feet in diameter, having sixteen buckets attached. The buckets work inside the spokes and are calculated to empty about 30 gallons of water a minute. The water is intended for the agency garden.

The executive committee of the International Lodge of Good Templars has again refused to rescind the edict against dancing at lodge meetings. No less than fourteen lodges have thrown down the gauntlet and declared that having been guilty in the past they are liable to be guilty in the future.

The Rev. Mr. Hack, superintendent of the German Baptist mission, has returned to Winnipeg after touring the Territories.

Calgary is negotiating for the purchase of two or three hundred acres adjoining the city for a site for an Indian school.

A suction pump to be used for drawing up sand from the bottom of the river and to be used in gold mining has been forwarded to Mr. T. Duggan of South Edmonton, for trial. The new machine will be used when the river permits, being operated with a steam engine.

Light Woodwork Popular Today

Makes a Small Room Seem Larger So Is Worth Its Extra Care

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

After talking with some of our decorators I concluded that dark woodwork is a problem in the homes of many Edmontonians. So here are some typical questions with answers which may be helpful to them and others, too.

"Must one paint dark woodwork to keep the room from looking dated?" The answer is—not necessarily. Recent work with dark woodwork, first, on the woodwork, and second, on how the rest of the room is planned. If the dark woodwork is good, an effort should be made to keep it because it certainly requires less housekeeping.

Study the types of rooms used in both the English country cottage and in the Tudor type of English house. If your house and furniture will fit into something of this sort, you can create a charming effect and keep your dark woodwork. On the other hand, Georgian rooms traditionally have painted woodwork and so 18th century English usually look best with painted woodwork.

Another type of room that really needs painted light woodwork is one that is all chopped up with doors and windows till the effect is jittery and smaller than it should be. In this case, painted woodwork will make the room seem larger and calmer.

"Is it possible to bleach stained woodwork?" If so, is this much more difficult and expensive than to paint it?" Yes, stained woodwork can be bleached. However, this is a more expensive and difficult process than painting the woodwork. In fact, it is too much work except for fine woodwork that is really worth the effort.

Ordinary soft wood trim isn't good enough to justify the amount of work involved. The process for bleaching and pickling wood trim is first to remove all the old finish and stain with paint remover. Your next step is to apply a wood bleach, one of the commercial products is easiest to use, then to apply a coat of white paint and wipe it off wet, then to apply a coat of thin shellac, followed by waxing.

"After the wood has been bleached, is it a permanent job or does it have to be refinished often?" The answer is that it is a permanent job if the woodwork is given reasonable care. If the shellacked surface is kept waxed well, then cleaning won't take the surface off and so refinishing won't have to be done often. If, however, it is not protected with wax and you are a decisive person with the scrub brush, you will have to give the woodwork a fresh shellacking from time to time. The bleach and pickling job may gradually darken a little, but probably not enough to worry about.

"How about dirt marks on bleached wood surfaces—do they show up as much as on painted wood and if so, is it possible to clean them?" No, dirt marks don't show as much as on painted surfaces but they do show more than on dark stained woodwork. Clean them by wiping a cloth wrung out in mild suds, then wipe thorough dry. If you wax the surface after cleaning it, the cleaning won't wear down the finish.

"Can you paint any dark woodwork in a light shade with success?" If there is a dark stain on the wood, it may be necessary to give it a coat of stain-killer before painting or else a coat of aluminum paint first. Otherwise the old stain may bleed through the paint. This is especially true of woodwork that has had a mahogany stain.

"Decorative Screens" The original purpose of a screen was just what the name implies—to screen from a draft, from the heat, from a view. But that was long ago and far away. Down through the years screens have enjoyed the attention of the best artists, the most skilled craftsmen. So screens often become objects of art on their own account, cherished as much for their beauty as for their utility.

Screens like that contribute drama and distinction to the decorating of a room. They can dominate a wall or provide a focal point where there is no architectural interest. Against an important wall, a tall and fine-looking decorative screen, either lacquered, painted, carved, brocade or whatever, will contribute decorative interest, give the effect of more furniture without taking up floor space. If you like, it can serve as the centre of interest for your furniture arrangement.

For the room that is too full of doors and windows, a screen can often create the effect of more wall space. Or it can be used in front of an unimportant doorway to block out the opening and yet leave space enough for passage when it is needed.

The effect of partitions can be achieved by a screen set at angles to the wall with the furniture arranged in front of it as if it were a wall; sometimes a pair of screens used in this fashion on two sides of a room are practical and good looking.

And now that homes are smaller, there is often the need for covering up a secondary use for certain rooms—an office corner in the living room, the nursery corner in the dining room, or guest room, the kitchen corner in the all-in-one room apartment. Here an appropriate screen gives you the correct answer.

New Naval Act Creates Navy

Measure Is of Historic Importance in Life of Canada

By S. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA—Almost crowded out of public attention in a session of Parliament which has been crisscrossed with important debates and vital legislation, the Naval Service Act, 1944, has been passed and it will be proclaimed after a consolidation of naval regulations can be completed. When one recalls the bitter controversy over the Naval Service Act of 1910, which figured heavily in the rise of Quebec nationalism and the defeat of the Laurier government in 1911, the ease with which the new Naval Service Act passed through Parliament offers a sharp contrast.

The new Naval Service Act has historic importance. It provides legal basis for the existence of a distinctly Canadian navy, and it simplifies the rules and regulations of the navy. It marks the dividing line at which the Canadian navy will begin to operate entirely on its own regulations, instead of those of the British admiralty, so that the new act will be construed as the point of divorce between the British and Canadian navies as far as naval law and regulations go. It reflects the obvious fact that, in its own right, Canada became a naval power in this war.

It was inevitable that regulations applying to the Canadian navy should be consolidated and revised for distinctive Canadian use. In moving second reading of the act on June 8, 1944, Mr. Macdonald said that provisions applying to the Canadian navy were drawn from eleven different sources. First of all, there was the 1910 Naval Service Act, and its amendments. Following that, there were the Canadian navy regulations, Canadian naval orders in force volumes, Canadian consular naval orders, fleet reserve regulations (which are still a matter of paper work only), Royal Canadian Naval Reserve regulations, Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve regulations, the Wrens' regulations, the British Naval Discipline Act of 1906, three volumes of King's regulations and admiralty instructions of the British navy, and finally, admiralty fleet orders.

All this was more than enough to keep all Canada's sea lawyers busy overtime. When the naval regulations are consolidated, by drawing all applicable provisions from these sources and placing them into two volumes, the new act will be put into force. In commenting on this proposal, Mr. Stirling said: "There is no reason at all, since the passing of the Act of Westminster, why we should turn any longer to the legislation of the United Kingdom, useful and helpful though that has been to us in the past."

The new Naval Service Act, of course, based on the 1910 act. The minor nature of changes made reveals the soundness of the general principles laid down at that time. The Canadian navy will henceforth have its own commander-in-chief, who will be the governor-general as representative in Canada of His Majesty the King. The principle of ministerial responsibility is incorporated in the new act in many ways. The minister is the political head of the navy and his function, as Sir William Harcourt once remarked of the function of politicians in relation to the Royal navy, is to warn the permanent officers what the people will not stand for.

Most important change in the

There will be fun. That is for sure. But after the fun, after the happy reunion has been enjoyed to the limit, there will come the period of re-adjustment. There will be a man in the house again after so many years and the effect upon the household, though it consists of a single room or a mansion, will be profound. What is more, it will be a strange man in the house. The ordeal of war will have changed him considerably, perhaps deeply; just as the ordeal of trying to be a father and a mother to growing children will have wrought profound changes in the personality of the mother.

Family life cannot be picked up where it was dropped two, four or five years ago. The intrinsic nature of families, of life itself, makes that impossible. Instead a new life must be created; and for many it will be some heart-breaks, some disillusionment, but in the end there will be a new life for human nature is adaptable to new conditions and new surroundings.

For the returning service men, and of course for their families, it will be a new adventure. For many of the men of life's greatest adventures—the early growth of a young family—will have passed them by. But there will be compensations, very great compensations.

For the younger service men the problem of re-adjustment will be infinitely more difficult than for the older men. Many will come back to the young wives and babies. After two, three and four years of having everything done for them, of having others worry about their welfare, they will suddenly find themselves on their own. Then they will not only have to worry about themselves but about their families as well. The test of responsibility will be thrust upon them. Thousands of them who went straight from school and college to the forces, will discover the new world of business and the task of making a living. What was once a life of great simplicity will become a life of vast complexity.

It is true that the governments may help in these re-adjustments. There will be committees and organizations galore to help fit the service men back into civilian life. Without that, work tends to lose its meaning, to become merely drudgery or, at best, futility. With it work takes on a new meaning and becomes a means to a greater end. The orators have been saying that these returning service men will be the builders of a great new Canada. If they succeed only in building happy family lives for themselves and their wives and children a great new Canada will follow automatically.

When Daddy Comes Home Again

By J. H. GRAY

In all the planning for the post-war years that is being done the world over, planning that includes economic and political reconstruction, vast schemes for rehabilitation of the wounded and the demobilized, great plans for raising living and health standards; in all this nothing is being done about the greatest of post-war problems, the problem of intimate human relationships. Nothing is being done because nothing can be done, for it is a problem which only the individual concerned can work out.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

IT WAS blue Monday alright for many of the 4,200 citizens who took in the eighth day of the current racing meeting at Exhibition track yesterday. Once again the public seemed to display a distinct aversion to betting on winners, for two-sixth choices, one fifth and a pair of seconds got down in front to kick over the dope bucket.

Two winners in seven though was below the average for the previous seven days, in spite of the fact that just one came in on each of two days. Up to yesterday the total had reached 19. Two second choices did come in Monday to make the picture brighter for many past performance players.

Two days still remain, but the success of the meet would appear to be assured already. The fact that the attendance is keeping up to an average of 4,500—and they can't all be repeaters—seems to indicate too that the burghers in the Edmonton area like racing and are willing to support it.

TAVES LEADS VINA

JOCKEY ARNOLD had his first pair of winners on a single day here—Isalite in the first and Gloverdale in the sixth. And Jose Vina failed for the first time in this meet to bring in at least one. Robert Taves had to be content until the final race before scoring a win with Valinda Sun. Taves now leads Vina by one score so far as this meet is concerned, the score being 12 to 11.

Sixth race proved most popular with the punters, a total of $11,612 being wagered on that event. The figures were $11,057 for the fifth. Straight bets on Noble King who won the fifth amounted to $1,762 and his grand total to $3,439. Sibroom, heavy favorite in the third race, was next with $3,304 and then came Vain Cholly in the second with $3,107.

Trainer L. H. VanHousen of Calgary has saddled seven—not six—successive winners. They are Hokey, Pussy Boots and Drums last Wednesday, Rural Parade and Double Dr Nothing on Friday and Drums and Pussy Boots on Saturday.

HERE AND THERE...

THIS coming week-end will see quite a fastball migration from Edmonton. Coach Clare Hollingsworth is taking his Army and Navy Pats to Calgary for the balance of the senior girls' Alberta finals.

USAAF officers will be in Lethbridge for the men's provincial final. Swift-Canadians go to Alton for the return games in the intermediate series and South Side Athletics expect to be in Calgary for the junior men's semi-final.

There is considerable stake in tonight's senior ball session at Renfrew Park, between Yanks and Dodgers. Yanks hold a fractional game lead over the Dodgers, but must win to keep their position intact.

A big inter-service track and field meet is slated for Clarke Stadium this coming Saturday, with entries from several outside units expected to participate.

Another Workout Tonight

Twenty-Five Juniors Turn Out For Canadian Rugby Practice

TWENTY-FIVE young football enthusiasts turned out at Clarke Stadium Monday night as the Canadian Athletic Club held its first workout under the direction of Ken McAuley in anticipation of the formation of a city junior rugby football league. Another practice has been called for tonight at 7:15 o'clock.

Eliminate Styrmie From '44 Tourney

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Marking one of the most drastic rule changes ever made in major tournament golf, the United States Professional Golfers' Association Monday eliminated the styrmie from the 1944 championship, which got under way at Manito course yesterday.

Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam, N.Y., chairman of the tournament committee said he and seven other members of the committee had voted unanimously to abandon the styrmie—which often blocks the putting path of one player on the greens—unless the balls are six inches or less apart.

Lieut. Bawlf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Bawlf, now reside in Vancouver.

Mack Has To Make Baseball Pay

Whom Did Connie Succeed? There's Real $64 Question

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Celebrating his Golden Anniversary as a major league manager, Connie Mack wishes he could say he was out of debt.

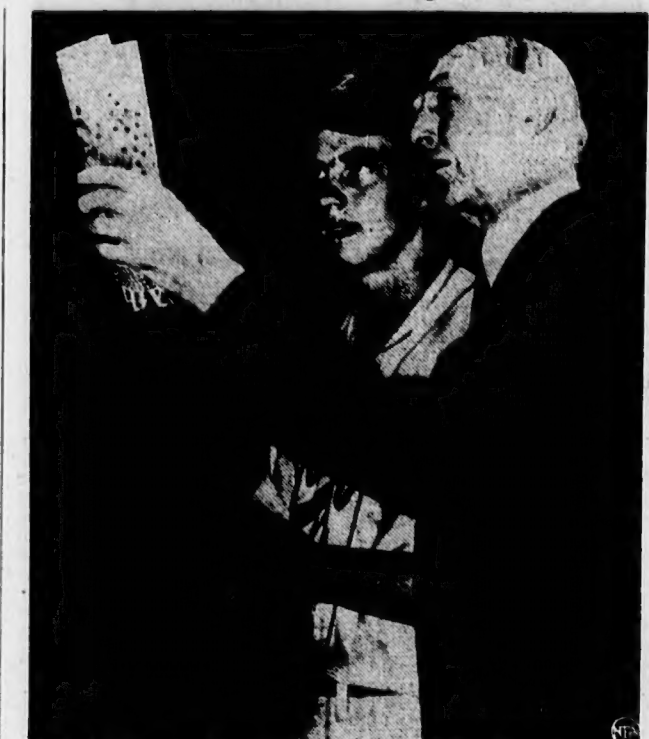

"I have to make baseball pay, the same as any other business man," says the patriarchal pilot of the Athletics.

Young Cornelius McGillicuddy stepped out of an East Brookfield, Mass., shoe factory to sign his first professional contract in 1883, is still the most active member of the Philadelphia party at 81.

A rich sense of humor has helped to keep him going down through the years.

When Mack sold Jimmy Fox to the Red Sox for $150,000 at the winter meetings in December, 1935, he told Eddie Collins that he had to have a catcher. The Boston club offered him one of two. Collins recommended George Savino. Mack accepted him.

Philadelphia baseball writers were on Mack just a little at the time for disposing of so many name players and getting so little in the way of talent in return. Jimmy Dykes, Al Simmons, Mule Haas, Lefty Grove, Rube Walberg and Max Bishop had gone before. The writers were waiting in another hotel room for Mack and the news on Fox.

Third baseman Joe Muroth listens intently to instructions from Connie Mack, waving famous scorecard as manager of eastern team in All-American boys' game at Polo Grounds.

be pleased to know that I have Savino."

Old Hoss Radbourne was the great pitcher of the year Mack broke in as a six-foot four-inch 150-pound catcher they called Slat. Mack caught three years before the chest protector made its appearance. The catcher's mitt was an ordinary kid glove with the fingers amputated. The catcher was the only man on the club who wore anything on his hand.

ANSWER TO QUESTION

Players cut the grass around their positions with mowers.

Those who acted as umpires were afraid to open their mouths. Mack saw umpires chased from the premises beaten up.

Mack gained his greatest fame as a player as the battery mate of a pitcher named Gilmore. Both were so tall and thin that Manager Mike Scanlon of Hartford called them the Shadow Battery, and the tag stuck. Gilmore fanned more than 300 batters in an Eastern League season, refused to sign with Washington unless his catcher accompanied him.

The gentlemanly Mack was an expert at bat tipping when his pitcher was in a hole. He was always apologizing in that soft way.

A broken leg, suffered when Herman Long plunged into him at the plate in 1893, hastened the end of his career as an active combatant. He caught his last game—for Pittsburgh in 1896.

In 1894, Connie Mack succeeded Al Buckenberger as the Pittsburgh manager and has been running a club ever since, the Athletics, since they were founded in 1901.

There's the answer to what really is a $64 question—and then some.

Morrie Gravatt Right Behind

Annon Leads First Half Qualifying Test P.G.A. Meet

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Little Freddie Annon, one of the dark-horse contenders, scrambled around the Manito course in below-par fashion Monday to lead a classily 69-man field in the first round of the 36-hole qualifying test for the 1944 National Professional Golfers' Association championship.

His 34-34—68 against a 36-36—72 par course, was good enough to set the pace not only for the two leading performers of the year Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia, but many another star and former champion.

Annon, 30-year-old defence plant worker of Mamaroneck, N.Y., stole the first-day show of the seven-day event and people were asking "Who is Annon?"

Trailing him with 69's were Nelson, former United States Open and P.G.A. champion; Ed Dudley of Dudley of Colorado Springs, president of the P.G.A.; and Morrie Gravatt of Williams Port, Pa., also an outsider. McSpaden, leading bond winner of the year, shared the 70-stroke (36-34) with Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind. (36-34) and Willie Goggin, White Plains, N.Y., who paired up 35's.

The only others to break par with 71's were Joe Zarhardt, Harrisburg, Pa. 37-34, and John Geertsen, Salt Lake City, 38-33.

Back a ways were such big names as Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, United States open title holder for the duration, with a 39-35—74; Tony Manero, Stamford, Conn., national open champion in 1936, with 37-37—74; Harry Cooper of Minneapolis 38-35—74; Jimmy Hines, Amsterdam, N.Y., 38-36—74; and Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, ex-national open and P.G.A. winner, with 43-35—78.

Phil Terranova Drops Decision

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Vince Dell'Orto, the veteran fisty applier from Philadelphia, tossed a big monkey wrench into the fight plans of Phil Terranova of New York here Monday night when he outpointed the former National Boxing Association world's feather champion in 10 rounds.

Dell'Orto employed a fast left hand and a lot of ring generalship in staying out in front of Terranova. Terranova asked 127½ pounds, Dell'Orto 132.

Manitoba Swims Champs Declared

WINNIPEG BEACH, Man., Aug. 15.—(CP)—Manitoba Wrigley swim champions were declared here Saturday.

Herb Cosman of Winnipeg, won the men's senior mile in 32:50 3-5, while Casey Kerr of Winnipeg took the ladies' in 30:39 3-5.

Doug English of Winnipeg, coped the junior men's half mile and Vivian King of Winnipeg, the junior women's.

Western Wrigley swim champions will be held here next Saturday with Alberta and Saskatchewan representatives competing.

Jacobs Will Get Rights to Cerdan

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Armand Vincent, Montreal sports promoter, Monday signed a contract giving Mike Jacobs the North American promotional rights to Marcel Cerdan when the French middleweight arrives in the United States late this month.

Cerdan, middleweight champion of Europe and the only knockout title winner in the inter-Allied ring tournament at Algiers last winter, now is in Casablanca awaiting transportation to the United States. Cerdan and his manager, Lucien Roupp, are expected by air before Sept. 1.

In signing the contract, Vincent represented the Canadian Entertainment Company, Limited, the group which is bringing Cerdan to the western hemisphere.

Equals Record

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Aug. 15.—(CP Cable)—The world record for the 100-yard dash was equalled here Monday by George Lewis, a Trinidad policeman, who turned in a mark of 9 2/5 seconds at an intercolonial olympiad.

Long Matches Feature Play

Three Events in Semi-Finals In Garneau Tennis Tourney

Three events—ladies' doubles, ladies' singles and men's doubles—are in the semi-finals following Monday's draw in the Garneau Tennis Club's annual tournament being held this week. The two other competitions—the men's singles and the mixed doubles will enter that stage today.

Finalist will be declared in the ladies' open doubles tonight, the semi-final matches being played at 7:30 o'clock. Norma Mackay-Lola Mackay meet Gloria Hoback-Mary Collins in one semi-final while Sheila Toshack and Peggy Molly play the Irma McManus-D. Tanny combination in the other.

Long and hard-fought matches featured yesterday's play. One of the closest was a ladies' open singles competition between Doris Walton and Lola Mackay. Doris captured the game in three sets, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, but Lola forced her all the way, supplying some real opposition. This game lasted close to two hours.

Two other long battles were in the men's open singles, and both went the full three sets. Les McManus edged out Gordon Marshall 7-5, 3-6, 6-3 in a bitterly-contested fixture, while Dr. King eliminated Jack McIlven 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 in another lengthy battle.

Vain Cholly, Noble King Come Through

VAIN CHOLLY in the second half of the Daily Double and Noble King in the third event on the card, provided the only cheering news for faithful form followers on Monday, eighth day of the race meeting being held at the Edmonton Exhibition Association track.

With a track rated as slow, times were off up to 6-4-5 seconds, with 3-3-5 being the closest approach to records. Annoyed's 1:25 in the six and a-half furlong fourth race and Noble King's 1:30 2-5 for the seven furlong fifth, were the best relative performances of the evening.

Vain Cholly, winner of the second race, went that seven furlongs in 1:33 3-5, exactly 6-4-5 seconds off. The attendance Monday was 4,200 and the mutual handle of $78,509, the third highest for the meet.

The Isalite to Vain Cholly daily double paid $55.30, with 79 tickets sharing the $5,268 pool. Valinda Sun and Green Turban quinellas were worth $11.35. A total of 569 pastebards were sold on this combination and the pool of $8,498 was second highest for the eight days, being exceeded only by Saturday's record figure of $9,176.

Isalite, who is owned by T. Burton of Calgary, and starting at odds of just 5 to 1, was second choice in the opening race. Beaming Son, entered by Mrs. S. R. Marks, of Lexington, Ky., was a 2 to 1 favorite, but was never better than fourth and finally finished fifth.

Sibroom was running third and coming fast in the stretch, but was crowded by Hi-V-York against Miss Yank and fell. Jockey Taves was thrown, but was uninjured and continued to ride for the rest of the evening.

Best price paid was Annoyed's $18.75, $10.55, $5.70 across the board in the fourth race. Gloverdale returned $13.40 for nose duces in the sixth and Valinda Sun straight tickets were redeemed at $14.35 in the seventh. Shortest price of the evening was turned in by Vain Cholly—$3.35, $3.40 and $3.20.

Jockey Arnold gave Isalite a nice ride in the opening race on the card. Although seventh at the start, Isalite soon moved up and finally overtook Kady Kate at the three-quarters and finished less than a length ahead of Camp Flight, who had come fast from fourth position. Fairy Witch was third, after running sixth for a time. Avoid finished fast on the outside in fourth place. Kady Kate tied badly, and was seventh, four lengths ahead of Lorne Sable.

It was Vain Cholly all the way in the second race and Jockey George Godley chalked up his second win of the meet. Ex Libris supplied the chief opposition and was less than a length back at the wire after gaining in the stretch. Craiglane came into contention after a half, but could not reach the winners. Audrey Craig ran fourth all through. Sir Mortimer was slow getting away from the Cowell gate and was left several lengths. Gossiper led for a time but couldn't keep the pace.

Hi-V-York, after getting away third, was carried wide at the first turn in the third race, with Miss Yank setting the early pace and Sigroon running second. In the stretch Hi-V-York bore over on Sibroom causing the latter to fall, but continued on to beat Miss Yank by three lengths. Gingerbell, starting at 23 to 1 odds claimed the show spot and paid off at only $5.85.

Annoyed quickly drew clear of the field in the fourth, but was given a serious stretch challenge by Thrax who was less than a length back at the wire. Jockey Roberts had brought Thrax up from seventh place at the three-quarters mark. Messenger Maid was third, but Sky Grey, favorite in the betting got away badly and was never a factor. Lady Barber tied and Sona Maid was second early in the race.

Noble King attracted most of the attention in the mutuels and started at just over even money. The King ran second for a time to Mistleton, but moved up at the three-quarters. Hoops My Dear also caught Mistleton and passed him in the stretch to take the place spot a couple of lengths back of Noble King, but about the same distance in front of Mistleton. Lover's Lass had no speed and Pagan Star weakened after running third and finished last.

Vesuvius and Some Do were the favorites in the sixth race, the first mile and sixteenth on the card. Gloverdale, sixth choice in the betting quickly outran the field and held on well through the stretch to win by two lengths over Youville and give Jockey Arnold his second first of the day. Coordinator, longest shot in the race finished a good

Spargo Hurls Two-Hitter Walk-Rite "A" Beats Pats For 9th League Win In Row

Walk-Rite "A" registered their ninth victory without a defeat in the City Girls' Fastball League Monday night when they turned back the Army and Navy Pats 4-1 in the second half of the doubleheader at Kingsway Park. "Gen" Spargo pitched two-hit ball in the opener as CP Airlines won from Walk-Rite "B" 6-4.

Betty Carveth, whom the Pats defeated in the rubber game of the northern final, came back to hold the Army and Navy club to three scattered hits and a single unearned run in a nine-inning battle.

Walk-Rites scored two in the first inning to take the lead they held throughout. Jean Barton started off the winners when she reached first on an error at short. She advanced to second when Jean Beatty flied out to left field and was driven in by Frances Zavitz who doubled to the same place. Minnie Willson followed with a two-bagger, also to left field to tie in Zavitz with what proved to be the winning run.

Pats' lone counter came in the second. Nadine Hatch made first on an error at short, went to second when "Teddy" Howey flied out to first and then came in on Mary Mercer's long single to centre.

Walk-Rites clinched the contest in the fifth with two more markers that came on three errors, a stolen base, a fielder's choice and a fly.

CPA TRIUMPHS 6-4 OVER WALK-RITE "B"

CP Airlines pushed across two runs in the seventh frame in the curtain raiser last night to break a tie and defeated the cellar-dwelling Walk-Rite "B" club 6-4 behind "Gen" Spargo's nice pitching effort.

CPA were leading with two tallies by Edith Radley and Mable Robinson in the first and third inning when the Walk-Rite team came through with three in the fifth to take over the lead. Four errors, a single and a put-out at first accounted for the losers' three in the fifth.

CPA went ahead again in the sixth with two markers by Edith Radley and Doreen Barrett, only to have the opposition come back in the bottom half of the same frame and tie it up.

The CPA girls then scored two in the seventh to settle the issue. Doreen Barrett started off the last session by reaching first on an error at third. She advanced to second on a sacrifice by Mable Robinson and was driven in by Edith Radley who doubled to centre field. Winnie Reid followed with another two-bagger to bat in Radley with the winners' sixth run.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Johnny Longden, tough little Alberta-born jockey, will have to be practically nailed down in the coffin before he gives up the chance to ride a winner in an important stake race.

Commenting on Longden's winning ride on First Fiddle in the Butler Handicap with a broken foot, Harry (Calgary) Albertson Scott recalled he did as early the same thing in the 1934 Alberta Derby. That time Johnny rode Peachstone to victory even though he had broken his leg the day before the race.

These Westerners are hard to keep down apparently.

THE OUTDOORS LIFE
Jim Rallion, Vancouver sportsman and outdoors lover, has plans to popularize the outdoors life in British Columbia after the war. He wants to take hold of the youngsters and conduct regular classes in handling firearms, looking after fishing paraphernalia, and the lore of woodcraft.

HERE AND THERE
Truly a ball umpire's lot is none too happy nowadays, with always the danger he may lose his job to non-union scab labor. That Winnipeg ump who dared an obstreperous fan to come down and do a better job if he could, learned the hard way when the fan actually came down on the field to take over the play-calling duties. Only the vigilance of league officials saved the day for his ump and deprived the fans of some rare sport.

Joe Johansen of Calgary laid one buck on the line for the handicap.

Cafe Owners Ask Exchange Of Property

Re-zoning of the property immediately east of the Dreamland theatre into a park area gave rise to owners of the St. Louis cafe making application to exchange their property for the Carpenter Block at 10712-18 Jasper avenue. The Chinese owner agreed to meet the city's terms in taking over the building, paying a difference in value of $10,500.

City council Monday night referred the question to the bylaws committee with instructions to city commissioners to bring in a detailed report. It was felt that a definite commitment regarding proposed improvements to the Carpenter building should be had from the applicant before the exchange was made.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

It was pointed out that the present condition of the building warrants improvements being made to bring it up to the standard of buildings in the business zone and that there is no future in clearing out one "unsightly area," only to have another arise someplace else in a few years.

An application to purchase property at the corner of 97 street and 101 avenue was also referred to the bylaws committee. The present Chinese tenants of the buildings submitted an offer of $15,000 for the property and indicated their intention to erect a brick building on the site.

Urges City Buy Historic Photos

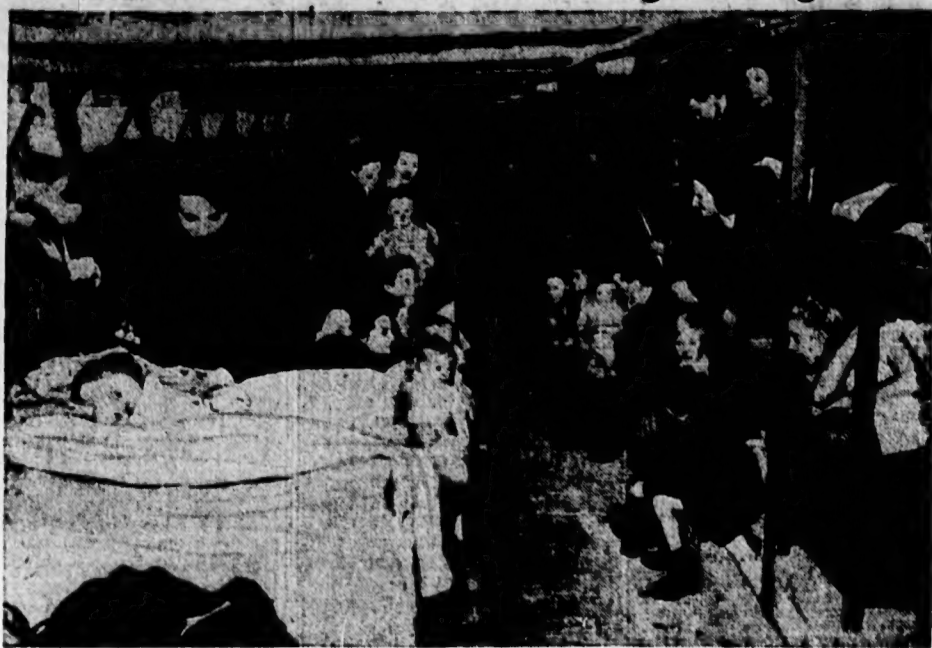

Purchase of historical photographs of scenes of early days in Edmonton was proposed to city council Monday night by Ald. S. S. Bowcott. The photographs are at present in the possession of Miss Gladys Reeves, local photographer, and the mayor said city commissioners would go into the question fully and bring in a detailed report.

In Ald. Bowcott's opinion the photographs are of historic value to the city and should be preserved. He suggested that they be printed in book form and placed in every school, not only in the city and province, but all across the Dominion. He pointed out that they would serve as a record which might otherwise be lost.

"All of us here have seen a lot of changes and great strides forward made in past years," he said, "but our children and future generations have no such memories and when photographs such as these are in being, I think they should be preserved."

Robot Bombs Drive London Underground Again

Council Discusses Central Bus Depot

Report on a proposed new central bus depot for the city, costing about $20,000 was filed by city councillors at their regular meeting Monday night.

In reply to an inquiry by Ald. H. D. Ainsley regarding parking of buses near the present depot, it was pointed out that arrangements are being made to build a new bus depot that would eliminate the parking of buses on the city streets.

It is suggested that the buses enter on 102 avenue and exit on 102 street, circulating one way only, around the depot.

Proposed plans for the new station would provide facilities to handle 24 buses as well as standard accommodation for ticket and baggage offices and lunch counter accommodation.

A report from the city police department pointed out that the buses are at present parking in a one-hour area but it was suggested that this should not be changed and that buses be allowed to park there until the companies have their own loading stations. It was observed that the buses had not obstructed traffic under the present system.

Fur Dealers Seek Game Sanctuaries

Colin MacDonald, manager of the raw fur department of the Hudson's Bay Company at Edmonton, spoke on "The Raw Fur Trade" at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Macdonald on Monday.

Fur dealers are seeking co-operation of the Alberta government in setting aside natural sanctuaries for wild life to ensure the continued supply of wild fur bearers, the speaker said.

The speaker pointed out that trapping is not allowed in natural parks, and the parks would make wonderful breeding places.

The Alberta Raw Fur Merchants' Association is prepared to co-operate with the Alberta government in an educational program in connection with registered trap lines throughout the province, Mr. MacDonald stated.

The raw fur official gave 1942-43 statistics on the fur industry in Alberta. These are the most recent figures available, he said.

At that time 129,242 pelts were marketed, at a value of $1,632,483. Mr. MacDonald stated. Overall income for wild and farm fur in the province was in excess of $5,000,000 and the revenue from the raw fur trade in Alberta was approximately $140,000 (the latter sum goes to the credit of the general provincial revenue.) There are 1,146 fur farms in Alberta, with stock and equipment valued at $3,000,000.

Alderman Proposes Union Station Here

Necessity for a union station in Edmonton with terminals of C.N.R. and C.P.R. in proximity to the proposed postal building was brought forward at city council meeting Monday night by Ald. M. M. Downey.

Mayor John W. Fry expressed interest in the question and said he would inquire into it.

Ald. Downey pointed out that the recent announcement from Ottawa concerning the proposed $500,000 postal building to be erected east of the present C.N.R. station called for action regarding railroad terminals if the distribution of mail is to be properly handled.

"If all that money is to be spent on a building to facilitate the distribution of mail it doesn't seem very efficient that part of it should be hauled all the way down from the C.P.R. station," he said. Both railroads should have terminals at a point adjacent to the building."

Japanese Refused Admission to City

Two applications from Japanese for permission to take up residence in Edmonton were rejected by city council at the regular meeting held Monday night.

One application from a Canadian-born Japanese was for six weeks' temporary residence to enable him to complete a course in Diesel engineering which he has already started. Council felt that in making any allowances for temporary residence a precedent would be set which would make it difficult to refuse other applications.

The other request came from a Japanese who has been residing in Edmonton for the last two years. He desires to bring to the city, his wife and six children, who are at present in Kaslo, B.C. Both husband and wife were born in Japan but the children are all Canadian-born.

What Council Did

Referred proposed change in telephone billing system to the finance committee.

Referred to bylaws committee application from Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen to purchase property on bank of Capital Hill ravine at present in park area.

Received as information further details on debenture charges of utility departments.

Approved city engineer's list of proposed local improvements to walks and roadways and empowered the city commissioners to include a sidewalk on the east side of 102 street, between 114 and 115 avenue if the petition is in order.

Concurred with the commissioners' proposal to refer the post-war construction program to the finance committee.

Received as information a summary of proceedings at the Union of Alberta Municipalities held in Calgary, June 29.

Appointed Ald. J. H. Ogilvie deputy mayor for the period Sept. 2 to Nov. 4.

Approved the recommendation of the Town Planning Commission that zoning of property on McDougall drive, owned by Miss Gladys Reeves should be unchanged and that the city should take steps to acquire properties that are at present privately owned and are zoned as park in this locality.

Approved the appointment of Ald. S. S. Bowcott to replace W. H. Miller on the Town Planning Commission for the balance of 1944 and 1945. Mr. Miller resigned in May of this year.

Carried a motion to extend the powers of the housing committee to cover all questions concerning the housing situation.

Manning Depot Closing Today

No. 3 "M" Depot, one of the largest air force basic training centres in Canada, will close its doors Tuesday. The depot has been in operation since the summer of 1941, on Edmonton's exhibition grounds.

All trainees have left the centre for the "M" Depot in Toronto, and postings for the remaining skeleton staff were received Monday from No. 4 Training Command headquarters in Calgary.

A small holding unit of RCAF personnel of about 30 men will be left at the station to maintain and look after the buildings and grounds, as announced by Wing Cmdr. A. C. Cocking, senior administrative officer.

FO. F. H. MacDonald, works and building officer, will command the holding unit until the fate of the base is decided.

The depot eventually is to be used as a demobilization centre for airmen, said the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce.

Rugby, as it was originally played, called for from 40 to 100 players.

THIS is Main Street somewhere in Europe.

These shattered buildings were once busy shops and offices. The rubble-strewn sidewalks were once thronged with people. It will be a busy street again . . . someday.

The ravaged cities of Europe and Asia must be rebuilt. When V-Day comes the world will look to Canadian factories and farms for materials of reconstruction and repair, for food and clothing and household goods . . .

In the face of such a need, is it conceivable that we should have idle hands or minds in Canada after the war? Canada will be a busy place when Victory is won.

What is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE? It is the natural desire to make your own way, as far as your ability will take you; an instinct that has brought to this continent the highest standard of life enjoyed by any people on earth. It is the spirit of democracy on the march . . .

19 Alberta Men Serve In One Of Navy's 'Seagoingest' Ships

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—The Royal Canadian Navy destroyer HMCS Gatineau, dubbed one of the "seagoingest" ships in the Canadian service—because since commissioning she has spent more than 80 per cent of her time at sea—has been assigned new duties after months of anti-submarine patrol, strenuous rehearsals for D-Day and patrol operations in the English Channel during the assault on France, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence for Naval Services, revealed today.

Ration Official Wins Promotion

E. J. Hargreaves, western director of rationing with headquarters in Calgary, has been appointed assistant deputy administrator of rationing for Canada, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces. Mr. Hargreaves will have special jurisdiction over Western Canada.

Long business experience in the West qualifies Mr. Hargreaves for the position to which he has been appointed. He obtained school and university education in Winnipeg and proceeded overseas in 1915 for service in the Great War. Upon his return in 1919 he became employed with W. Sandford Evans, in statistical service in Winnipeg for the following nine years.

In 1926 he became associated with the Chrysler Corporation in Western Canada in various capacities—holding the position of assistant regional manager for the last 10 years. Mr. Hargreaves is being loaned by his employer and is one of the executives who has been with the ration administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board since March, 1942, prior to the inception of the administration.

Issue Warning On Employment

Care must be exercised by employers in hiring children as part-time or full-time workers, and they do so in accordance with the Labor Welfare and Welfare of Children Act, Clayton Adams, chairman of the Board of Industrial Relations, stated on Tuesday.

Section 1 of the Welfare of Children Act specifies that no child under 16 years shall be employed between the hours of 9 p.m. and 8 a.m., said Mr. Adams, nor may any child be employed in any occupation whatsoever that is likely to prove injurious to health, education or morals. Furthermore, no girl under the age of 18 may be employed in a restaurant or hotel without the written consent of parents or guardians.

Albertans Serve at Sea in Invasion Operations

Canada's shores had a friendly and welcome look about them the other day to officers and ratings of the Royal Canadian Navy destroyer, HMCS Gatineau. The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION A member of a provincial house has said that because the Senate is not elected by the people, it should be abolished. What is your opinion on the matter?

THE ANSWERS H. R. THOMAS, clerk: I don't think the Senate should be done away with, but what should be done is to make senators of men who have had a successful business life. Perhaps one or two national heroes—and we have them—could very well have a place there. The Senate members should be chosen by the people.

MRS. L. FOSTER, housewife: I look upon the Senate as a court of highest appeal in this country, and quite likely the person advocating its abolition would be quite willing to have the right to appeal to such authority in case of necessity. I feel that the Senate is a part of our constitution and cannot be abolished.

V. OWENS, electrician: The Senate shouldn't be what it has so aptly been called in the past: an old man's home. Senators should be free of political and religious bias; they should be "free lances," chosen by the electorate and with an equal representation from each of the provinces. I think there should be an age limit for all men holding seats in the Senate.

Dismiss Charge Against Trucker

Charge of allowing one of his trucks to be operated on city streets without adequate brakes and a horn, against Frank Smith, proprietor of an Edmonton trucking concern, was dismissed Monday by Magistrate A. I. Miller, K.C. The truck in question was stated to have been inadequately equipped when it struck and caused fatal injuries to five-year-old Leon Therrien on June 27 last. Driver of the truck, Otto Doring, told the court he had not informed the owner of the vehicle that the brakes and horn were not in working order.

Hog Marketings In This Province Show Increase

Alberta hog marketings for the first six months of 1944 totalled 1,721,157 head, well over the 1,113,706 marketed in the corresponding period of 1943, according to figures released Tuesday by the provincial department of agriculture.

The total represents an increase of 54.5 per cent over last year, and indicates another record production year for the industry. Marketings in the province have risen steadily since 1935, when 1,039,466 head were sold, to 1943, when 2,392,384 marketings were recorded, bringing Alberta to the forefront of the industry in Canada.

Agriculture officials noted that by early June, purchases of Canadian bacon for Britain were in excess of 400,000,000 pounds, four-fifths of the 1944 minimum requirement. It is now considered probable that by December, total shipments may approach the minimum commitment for 1944 and 1945, 900,000,000 lbs.

Alberta production of bacon for the first five months of the year was 1,497,300 lbs., higher than any other Canadian province. Saskatchewan was second, and Ontario third, in this five-month period. The conductor stated that accused had paid his fare as far as Red Deer, but he could not awaken him. A baggage man tried to arouse him, and, at last, a police officer went to the rescue. The latter declared that the accused was only pretending to sleep.

Business Man Finds New Goods Scarce

J. Shuler, sales manager of the Crescent Furniture Company, has returned from a six-weeks' buying trip in the east, and reports that new merchandise for domestic use is scarcer now than at any time since the war started, and that stocks are at a low ebb. Mr. Shuler says that reconversion for production for civilian use has not yet begun to any extent, so that even if the war terminated now shortages would still exist in many lines.

Former City Man President's Aide

Former University of Alberta student, W. N. Watson, was named as an aide to President F. D. Roosevelt during the president's Pacific tour. It was learned here Tuesday. He left four years ago to take a two-year course at Harvard university, Cambridge and Columbia university in New York. He has a brother in Calgary.

Power Production Reveals Increase

S. C. Heckbert, provincial president of the Canadian Legion, was in the city Tuesday, returning to his home at Vermilion after a visit to command headquarters in Calgary.

Before the Magistrate

Celiste Miskewich, who went to sleep aboard a CPR train which he boarded at Olds, blamed the conductor for not waking him up at Red Deer, according to statements to Magistrate A. I. Miller, K.C., on Tuesday morning. He pleaded not guilty to riding a train without paying his fare. The conductor stated that accused had paid his fare as far as Red Deer, but he could not awaken him. A baggage man tried to arouse him, and, at last, a police officer went to the rescue. The latter declared that the accused was only pretending to sleep.

Two juveniles, remanded from the juvenile court, appeared, one charged with breaking, entering and theft, and the other with common theft. The first chose to enter the house of his aunt and steal 55 cents in cash, some cigarettes, a cigarette case and a pocket-knife. The other pleaded guilty to stealing a camera from a tent at the Whirlpool River camp, near Jasper. Both accused had been in trouble on various occasions previously. Both were remanded until Aug. 28.

Stormy Weather Is Possibility

If the ancient weather prophets were correct in their belief that a sundog in the sky foretold stormy weather, then be prepared for more rain, as there was one seen at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The weather forecast for Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday is "occasional rain tonight, cloudy and cooler tomorrow with showers during afternoon." The estimated low tonight is 40 degrees, the high tomorrow 60 degrees. The temperature at 2 p.m. Tuesday was 61 degrees.

Gunners Give Demonstration At Sarcee Camp

Value of artillery support to infantry in the field was amply demonstrated at Camp Sarcee, Monday afternoon, when units of the 41st Reserve Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, presented a two-hour artillery display from Dark Woods on the Sarcee Reserve. Comprising men from the 23rd (R) Field Battery of Lethbridge and the 61st (R) Field Battery of Edmonton, 12 gun crews were in action during the day. Members of the 2nd (R) Battalion, Calgary Highlanders, under the command of Lt. Col. D. Alex Ross, officer commanding, witnessed the demonstration.

EXPLAINS SET-UP

Capt. R. H. Gunderson, prior to the main show, explained the set-up of a gun crew, the artillery board which keeps a record of every round fired and computes the mathematical data for the gun crews, the signal exchange which maintains contact between the gun crews and observation post and the observation post itself. Guns were fired so that the audience could see the crews in action.

The troops then proceeded to the observation post and from that vantage point witnessed the result of the gun fire. For the purpose of the demonstration an open area 400 yards distant from the gun position was designated as an enemy airfield. Regimental barracks and concentrations were fired with the finale being a 60-round concentration on a theoretic enemy ammunition dump. Various types of fire were described by Capt. E. E. Culley.

Pte. Jack Yarwood of Edmonton, and Vernon, B.C., now in Italy with the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, will have many stories to tell of Rome when he returns home. When last seen he was in the Canada Club there, and met several old pals including Pte. Bill Williams and Pte. Geraldine (Gerry) Munford, both from Edmonton. Pte. Munford is with the Canadian Women's Army Corps and only recently arrived in Italy. Yarwood had known both for years. All three Edmontonians were high in praise of Rome.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. M. T. who wrote recently about her worried state of mind when she saw mothers doing things she considered to be wrong, aroused the ire of several mothers all of whom said they felt she did not take the difference in babies into account.

Mrs. E. H. thinks she needs two or three children. "Schedules are much the same," she writes, "babies differ widely. My first boy was a model child and others said, 'How do you do it?'"

"I tried the same methods with my second but he didn't believe in books, schedules, night-time or doctor's orders. There was nothing wrong with him. He weighed nine pounds and never lost his good health or good start."

"As a schoolboy he is a perfect darling and it is the model baby who is giving the teacher gray hair. Mrs. M. T. should have twins and that isn't wishing her any bad luck."

Mrs. I. E. wonders if M. T. thinks all babies are alike and it is only a question of a mother's treatment? "I can only wonder what schedule she would use with allergic children. If they never keep them awake at night, then they have to sleep in daytime. A doctor may discover what food is causing an intestinal upset but may not be able to eliminate all the essential foods. In consequence we have irritable, sleepless babies."

"She should be thankful for her healthy baby and not so ready to criticize others."

In defense of Mrs. M. T. I really feel both these mothers were somewhat unfair. The things she worried about seemed to me unnecessary from any standpoint. They are not the adjustments a mother might have to make to an extraordinary situation. Remember, she was upset until midnight in a smoky room. She deplored their heavy coverings on warm days, and seeing spanked for not eating.

Obviously, all children are not alike and a mother may have to alter schedules to allow for this. But these are simply careless ways of dealing with small children and ways which show the mother to be either indifferent or ignorant of better ones.

Our leaflet "Fundamentals of Early Feeding," is designed to help mothers understand why different foods are essential in the diet. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

THESE WOMEN!

"My wife is gradually making over all my clothes into suits for herself!"

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Best Plan to Appease Daughters-in-Law

No Two Women Can Run the Same House Without Fighting and Clashing Over Vital Issues, Making Life Morbid

A woman who has made a success of being a mother-in-law gives the following advice about how to get along without friction with a daughter-in-law. "To begin with," she says, "never live with your son's wife. Keep your own house, if you have one. If you haven't, park yourself in a hotel or boarding house, or settle down for the duration in Old Ladies' Home. Just remember that no two women can try to run the same house without getting in each other's hair."

"Be the appeaser. Be the one to hold out the olive branch and give the glad hand of welcome to the new arrival in the family circle. For some unknown reason the mother-in-law always feels that the daughter-in-law should make all the overtures in friendliness and do everything possible to conciliate her husband's mother. This is wrong. The mother should take the initiative because she is older, has seen more of the world and should know more about how to handle young girls diplomatically."

"Make a friend of your daughter-in-law. That is the only way you can keep your son. If his wife doesn't like you, she will separate him from you. There is nothing that men dread so much as quarrels between their wives and mothers and if John's wife always is running to him with complaints about you and if there is a scene every time he wants to come to see you, in time you will lose him."

TAKE BACK SEAT
"Don't be a jealous cat. Take the back seat in your son's life gracefully. Don't try to be the main influence in his life any longer. That is his wife's prerogative. Don't resent his loving wife better than he does you. His marriage will be a failure if he still stays tied to Mother's apron strings and you don't want that to happen to him."

"Never call your son's attention to his wife's faults. He has got to live with her so build her up in his eyes so that he will always think he was a grand picker and got a world's wonder, and will go to his grave without finding out what a poor manager she is and that she gads too much."

"Never offer your daughter-in-law advice, or tell her how you do things. You may have to bite your tongue off to keep from making suggestions when you see her doing the things blunderingly that you know how to do so well, but great will be your reward. For when she finds out that you are not going to try to boss her or interfere with her in any way, she will drop her attitude of always being ready to start a fight."

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The story of bridge play is not always just playing a good hand well. More often the player is faced with an impossible situation and has to find the way to victory. That is what Paul Joseph did with today's hand in a rubber bridge.

game at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York.

West had been making lots of psychic bids during the evening, and the bid of two spades was designed to smoke him out. Joseph would have preferred to have his partner pass the four-heart bid around to him, but when North bid four spades and East doubled, Joseph made the best of the situation.

After winning the first trick, West shifted to the king of hearts, which East ruffed. Now East should have returned a club, but he made the mistake of leading the king of diamonds. Declarer ruffed, led a low spade to the queen, returned a low diamond and ruffed with the king of spades. Dummy's other club was discarded on the ace of hearts. East trumped and led a club, which was ruffed in dummy. Now the contract was safe, as a diamond trick could be established for the needed tenth trick.

Mr. Joseph must be given credit for taking advantage of his opponent's mistake.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HEALTH VALUE OF MILK
"Any person who wishes to retain the character of youth to a late age, who wishes to have skin free from wrinkles, who desires firm muscle tone under the skin, who wish to be more vigorous and retain that vigor until late in life, and who want to live long should drink a quart of milk a day," says Adelle Davis (Optimum Health, Calif. Graphic Press), and most nutrition authorities agree with her.

Vitamin G (riboflavin), of which milk is the richest food factor, is essential to the preservation of the health of the skin and the hair and the eyes. In animals deprivation of this vitamin produces cataract—there is no positive evidence that riboflavin (vitamin G, vitamin B2 of the B-complex) prevents or helps to clear up cataract in man, but if I had anything like beginning cataract I'd make it my business to get an optimal daily ration of vitamin B-complex, particularly riboflavin.

As a quart of milk every day, too, is a good source of calcium, less than a quart of milk is nearly as important as keeping all teeth in commission, for any one who wishes to keep young and live, not just exist his or her life expectancy. The average length of life in American people is now (1942) 64.82 years—a gain of 15 1/2 years since 1900. After attaining the age of 65 years (retirement age) the average person may now count on 12.12 years more—these are actual statistics on which the insurance contracts are based. In the face of these figures we must dismiss any notions we have cherished that the old timers attained old age more generally than people do today. Truth is that a far larger proportion of the entire population attain old age than ever before since actual records replaced hearsay and fancy.

"When the food is poor in vitamin G" (riboflavin, of which milk is the richest food source, "for any considerable length of time," wrote Prof. H. C. Sherman, one of the foremost authorities, "digestive disturbances, nervous depression, general weakness and deterioration of tone, and an unhealthy condition of the skin are apt to develop; the incidence of infectious disease is likely to be increased, vitality diminished, life shortened, and the period when life is at its prime greatly curtailed by the early development of the physical condition of old age."

All that for want of a quart of milk a day?
So the nutrition authorities say. And O! Doc Brady heartily concurs. I might even add that that is not the half of it—some good nutrition authorities believe a quart of

OKRA AND TOMATOES

(Serves 4-5)

Four to five medium-sized tomatoes, 1 onion, finely cut, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 bay leaf, 1/2 teaspoon dried basil, 1 pound okra.

Note: There's a trick to the proper cooking of okra. To prevent okra from "bleeding" never cut the pods until you are ready to cook them. Then, immediately after cutting salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper, 1/2 to 1 cup corn, cut from cob.

Wash, scald and skin the tomatoes. Quarter and drop into saucepan. Add remaining ingredients; bring slowly to boil, simmer 8 to 10 minutes, until corn is cooked.

DINNER: Melon balls, cup, liver and bacon, parsley potatoes, okra and tomatoes, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, romaine salad with French dressing, cherry Bavarian pie with graham cracker crust, coffee, milk.

Scald and skin the tomatoes, cut into quarters and drop into saucepan. Add onion, salt, bay leaf and basil. Bring to boil. Wash the okra; cut off stem, then cut into inch-long pieces—drop the cut pieces into the boiling liquid as you cut. Cook slowly until okra is tender—this takes about 15 minutes.

Minute Make-Ups

Satin coats are new; black, sleek and glistening! Brown satin hats with fur-trimmed at the top tell a smart "tale" in Fashion. American Beauty, worn with brown is very new. Great whirls of net look very different when worn with fur coats. Pale pink tulle is worn over the face for "dress up" occasions—and very pretty it makes you!

Debunker

According to researches and extensive photographs of lightning made in South Africa by engineers with high-speed cameras, lightning comes out of the earth and strikes the clouds. Their photographs showed that the main stroke of lightning goes up from the earth, and that it is preceded by a faint "leader" stroke which comes down from the clouds, and apparently prepares the electronic path for the main stroke to ascend. It is this which we see come down. As soon as this unbranched "leader" reaches the earth, the main bolt flashes upward along the path made by it. Thus the main stroke of lightning goes up rather than down.

Pink and white gladioli and dainty bouquets of sweetpeas were arranged on the altar and choir loft of the chapel.

The bride has been employed in the city with a business firm, and the bridegroom has just returned from overseas where he spent three years doing operational duty. He is a 1940 graduate of the University of Alberta, obtaining his degree in commerce.

Miss Mary Duggan was bridesmaid, and wore a suit of brown gabardine, small brown hat to match and corsage of pink roses. Best man was Lt. J. C. Hewson, RCNVR, and ushers were Wesley Van der Lee and Kenneth Kinders. Miss Ruth Naylor sang "Because" during the signing of the register, and Mrs. J. V. Dadds was at the console of the organ.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. T. P. McGowan, Mrs. M. Ford, Miss J. Mealing, of Trochu, and Miss Mary Fox, of Edmonton.

After luncheon wires of congratulations were received for Mr. and Mrs. Pearson from Mrs. John Gordon and Phyllis, of Innisfree, and from Mr. and Mrs. B. Prokos, of Edmonton.

The bridal couple left later on a wedding trip by plane to Portland, Ore., to visit the bridegroom's brother, Dr. W. Pearson. Trochu Girl Is Married TROCHU, Aug. 15—A wedding took place Wednesday, August 8, at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Collins, of Trochu, when their second eldest daughter, Miss Doris Catherine Collins, became the bride of Willis Charles Pearson, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pearson, of Edmonton. The Rev. A. Tate Young, of Trochu, performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece ensemble of white silk jersey, a small white hat with veiling and on her shoulder a corsage of red roses and white gardenias. Her only ornament was a gold identification bracelet, gift of the bridegroom.

BRIDESMAID

Miss Beth Collins, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She chose a two-piece beige crepe frock and a matching hat with veil. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses.

Donald Gilmour, of Edmonton, was best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. E. M. Sauer, sister of the bride. During the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly" was played.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was held at the home. The toast to the bride was proposed by her father. To receive her guests Mrs. Collins, mother of the bride, chose

Proper Use of Air Power

By Maj. A. P. de Seversky

Lieutenant General Lewis H. Brereton, commander of the Ninth Air Force, has felt called upon to defend air power against Army expressions of disappointment with the job done by aviation in the break-through west of St. Lo, in Normandy.

The 2,500 planes involved, he said, accomplished their mission, which was all that could be expected of them. Between the lines of what he said we can read the implication that what was wrong, if anything, was the nature of the mission rather than air power.

In any event, the dispute recalls a similar one in southern Italy, after our air forces had left Cassino in rubble and ruins—which was the mission set for them by the ground command. The two together under de Seversky line the fact that every time air power is wrongly used it fails to produce results. The cries of disappointment thereupon heard are simply the result of a deep misunderstanding of the nature and role of air power.

Attacks such as those after the Cassino episode, and now after the St. Lo episode, are directed against air power in general and against "air enthusiasts" in particular. The latter are accused of oversteering their case. The truth, however, is that every time we have run into trouble in the use of military aviation it has been when that aviation was used in a manner which "air enthusiasts", especially, had warned against as wasteful in men, bombs and planes. Airmen have always contended that the most ineffective use of air power is when it is applied in close cooperation with ground forces, in a purely tactical role. Indeed, the closer that cooperation—measured in time and distance—the more difficult it becomes.

Air power begins to gain in effectiveness and it works away from a limited battle-line, in the rear of the enemy. When utilized independently from ground troops, as a strategic force for the destruction of the enemy's very means of waging war, such as his industrial set-up for war-making, air power becomes decisive. At St. Lo, just as at Cassino, air power was part of a ground enterprise in which it was asked to do an odd job. It had no responsibility for the wisdom or lack of wisdom of the enterprise itself.

When we take an automobile off the highway and try to use it through trackless country, across marsh land and swamps, it invariably goes down. To blame air power for its difficulties off its own strategic highways is about as logical as blaming automobiles for bogging down in jobs that can be done better by horses and donkeys. No one denies that in thick jungles travelling on foot is easier than travelling by motor car, or that artillery is more effective than bombs under certain tactical conditions.

At Cassino, some smart general, failing to capture the besieged buildings, decided to turn them into rubble. He called on artillery and air power to do the job and they did it. Then he discovered that rubble was harder to take than intact buildings. What had air power to do with all that? Doubtless the St. Lo situation will prove ultimately to have been of a similar character. Where strategy is on a mile-to-mile basis, air power will not achieve miracles or correct false concepts for those in charge.

All airmen agreed with General Brereton when he stated, as summarized in a press dispatch, that "it was a misuse of air power in that it took from regularly assigned tasks, for which they were designed, the American heavy and medium bombers. In the case of the heavy bombers it meant a period of two days during which they did not hit targets in German or German-occupied territory."

ANALOGOUS SITUATION
Assuming you send a battle fleet up a narrow river banked by high cliffs and discover that the battle fleet is unable to maneuver or use its guns properly would it make sense to condemn sea power? There is as little sense in condemning air power when an air fleet is used under analogous limitations.

These are things which should, at long last, be grasped by those who lose no opportunity to understate. It's high time that ground commanders learned the ABC's of air power, including the differences between shells and bombs and the occasions for using one or the other.

19 Alberta Men Doing Duty in HMCS Gatineau

Maurice Chadwick, RCN, executive officer of Gatineau, said, "they whizz by so fast you can hardly keep your eye on them. We saw a lot of them when we were on duty in the channel. They fly at amazing speed and it's hard to get a bead on them."

"We think we got a couple," said Boatwain ASCO, Lloyd "Heet" Gibson of Stratford, Ont. "We trained our guns on one that was flying about 100 yards off our bow and after our fire it whizzed down into the sea and exploded."

Lieut. Cdr. Gross said that it was likely the men of "Gatineau" had seen the first of the bombs in use during their operations in the channel a few days after D-day. "At first, we thought it sounded as though it might be a damaged Allied plane returning to England, with a motor missing, but then we saw what looked like a flying parachute cutting across the sky at terrific speed and making a screaming noise like a circular saw cutting through tin."

"Lieut. Lesalle and I were ashore when we had our experience with the robot bomb," said Bean. "We had seen them often at sea but this day we were walking down a London street when one whizzed over head and dropped about 300 yards away. The concussion was terrific."

"When I felt the concussion I thought the bomb had moved," said Lesalle. "There were several casualties and we were lucky to come out of it without a scratch. Store windows nearby were shattered and glass was flying all over the street."

Ldg. Steward Frank MacDonald, RCNVR, Edmonton; Ldg. Snn. William Kirk, RCNVR, Calgary, Alta.; Ldg. Snn. John Cockrill, RCNVR, Vancouver, and AB. Gordon St. Germain, RCNVR, Ottawa, all were ashore when flying bombs landed in their vicinity.

"One landed in a building several blocks away from me," said MacDonald, "and the flying bricks and debris were strewn all around. I was lucky I didn't stop something."

Said Kirk, "I had as close a call as I want to think about. A piece of a battered car dropped in front of me when I stepped out of a pub. I think the blast pushed me out of the way, but in my opinion being at sea is safer these days."

Thousands Cheer Aussie Veterans In New York City

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. (CP)—Browned and hardened by almost five years of war under the hot sun of Africa and the South Pacific, 300 Australian air volunteers en route to a secret mission in Britain, yesterday swung up Broadway from the battery to City hall before 25,000 cheering New Yorkers gathered along the line of march.

At City hall, the veterans of Tobruk, Crete, Syria and New Guinea, led by Brig. Gorman, stepped out in review before Mayor LaGuardia, Sir Owen Dixon, Australian minister to the United States, and Lt. Gen. Jon Lavarack, chief of the Australian military mission in Washington.

The first known Christmas greeting card made its appearance in 1842.

137 Are Nominated For N.B. Election

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 15. (CP)—The New Brunswick election campaign entered a two-week home stretch yesterday when 137 candidates were nominated officially in the 17 constituencies.

The Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties had candidates for each of the 48 seats at stake on polling day, Aug. 28, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, making its first bid for power in the province, placed 41 candidates in the field and assured three-cornered contests in every constituency but Northumberland County, where Liberals and Progressive Conservatives will wage a straight fight.

Premier J. B. McNair, leading the Liberal government's appeal for re-election, is a candidate in York. The Progressive Conservative leader, Hugh Mackay, is running in Kings, and the C.C.F. leader, J. A. Munro, is among 12 candidates in Saint John City.

Fighting Is Heavy In Hengyang Area

CHUNGKING, Aug. 15. (AP)—Chinese forces repulsed their attacks on the city of Tengyang yesterday and the Japanese hit back savagely to safeguard their hold on the central China fortress.

Heavy fighting was general throughout the Hengyang area. The Chinese high command said its troops repulsed repeated assaults south of Hengyang.

In the Salween river drive in western Yunnan, Chinese marshalling their strength from an all-out attack on the walled city of Tengchung repulsed five Japanese counter-blows.

In this Burma road offensive the Chinese had nearly completed their preparations for an attack on a large hill mass southeast of Lungling and the last strong Japanese position east of the town.

In the Hengyang battle area an enemy unit crossed the Siang river from a point 18 miles northwest of Leiyang, 30 miles below Hengyang, and drove northward before it was intercepted.

U.S. Removes Ban On Civilian Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson last night lifted the War Production board's ban on hundreds of civilian articles where local surpluses of labor and machinery permit.

The order, delayed since July 1, by the opposition of the Army, Navy and War Manpower Commission, was effective at midnight.

Cutting across 85 restrictive orders now on W.P.B.'s books, the action empowers W.P.B. field offices over the country to let individual plants make consumer goods hitherto prohibited or restricted.

It provides priority aid, also, for concerns willing and able to manufacture any of several hundred "preferred" items listed by W.P.B. as scarce and badly needed.

This preferred list covers such goods as vacuum cleaners, electric ranges, wash tubs, egg beaters, lawn mowers, sewing machines, church goods, bicycles and oil burners.

Military authorities disclosed that Churchill had come to Italy for last-minute conferences with army leaders before the launching of the fourth front.

No More Trained Australian Pilots Will Go Overseas

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

MELBOURNE, Aug. 15.—A. S. Drakeford, Australian air minister, announced today that the government has decided to send no more fully-trained Australian air force pilots to England, the Middle East or India.

Small drafts of trained navigators, wireless men and air gunners however will be sent to these theatres of operations until the end of the year.

The last Australian Royal Air Force draft of personnel who are going to Canada for training will leave Australia this month.

Planes Drop Arms To French Frontier

AT THE FRENCH FRONTIER NEAR ST. GINGOL, Aug. 15. (AP)—Allied planes parachuted heavy arms and also dropped a half-dozen officers from headquarters into northern France's Maquis region, it was reported here last night through reliable channels. Signal flame seen from the frontier last night indicated that the provisioning still was going on.

Germans Further Curtail Electric Service in Paris

LONDON, Aug. 15. (CP)—German authorities have made further cuts in electric service in Paris, allowing current for lighting only between the hours of 10:30 p.m. and midnight, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio said today. In the countryside outside Paris service was limited to 10 p.m. to midnight, the broadcast declared.

Will Have Aid of Partisans

Southern Invaders Have Two Possible Routes For Junction With North Armies

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Qualified military observers said today two possible routes for junction with British and American troops in northwest France lay before Allied troops storming the Mediterranean invasion coast.

The best natural corridor lay along the Rhone river valley which meets the Mediterranean in the Marseilles area, scene of the latest landings.

The other route is through the French Alps, where there are good roads leading northward.

Along either route, military analysts believed, the invading forces would have the aid of French partisans—Maquis—who are known to be active now in the Rhone valley. They could be expected to place obstacles in the way of German retreat.

OPERATIONS SUCCESS

Initial reports from the newest battle front indicate that operations were proceeding satisfactorily, possibly because of German withdrawals from the area to buttress hard-pressed Nazi legions in northwestern France.

There was evidence, however, that a large portion of the German army partly trapped in the Normandy pocket south of Caen had succeeded in carrying out orderly withdrawals.

At the same time, reports that the gap in the pocket had been reduced to a distance of eight miles indicated that retreat was becoming increasingly more difficult for the Germans in that area.

CLASSIC PATTERN

The invasion of south and central France indicated that the Allied strategy for the destruction of German armies in France was following the classic military pattern of divide and conquer.

Early reports from the southern invasion front that the United Nations forces landed between Marseilles and Nice suggested that the Allies aimed at clearing communications between the German First and 19th armies stationed in southwestern France.

The First army reportedly garnisons the eastern portion of the south coast and the 19th the western side. Both are under the overall command of Col. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz.

Meanwhile, the Allied forces of liberation in northwest France appeared to be in better position to lighten a giant trap—in reality, a series of traps—around the remnants of Germany's reinforced 7th army.

LOCATION OF NAZIS

Of this number, 50,000 are isolated in Brittany, another 10,000 are caught in a pocket south of Caen and an estimated 140,000 more are being herded by Allied mobile columns against the barrier of the now-bridgless Seine river west of Paris.

If the Allies succeed in attaining this objective, they will have driven a wedge between the battered German Seventh Army and the 19th Army stationed in the northwest corner of France and the lowlands.

Bombs Dropped Behind Canucks

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 15. (AP)—RAF heavy bombers dropped a number of explosives behind the Canadian lines in yesterday's assault on German positions, causing (four words censored) casualties (23 words censored).

The explosives fell as far back as Cinthaux and one result was the halting of some flights of bombers which were sent back with their loads undropped, but a senior Canadian officer said that 80 per cent of the bombs fell in the target area.

The error occurred a short time after United States heavy bombers were involved in a similar mistake on this front (eight words censored).

Orders to Draft Chinese Residents Of B.C. Received

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15. (CP)—Orders to issue draft calls to Chinese residents in British Columbia have been received at Pacific command headquarters, Pacific command officials announced here yesterday.

Although Chinese are subject to the same draft regulations as all Canadians, this is the first time British Columbia's Chinese males have been called for service in the active army.

There are 30,000 Chinese in B.C., and of this number it is estimated between 3,500 and 4,500 are eligible for military service.

Ritter Von Elber von Dawmans, it was disclosed yesterday. Dawmans' body was found in a common grave near a German headquarters south of Caen along with the bodies of two majors, two captains and 14 other officers and non-commissioned officers.

Bracken Favors
Removal of Japs
From All of B.C.
KAMLOOPS, B.C., Aug. 15.—(CP)— John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, told a public meeting here last night that his party's policy calls for the removal of all Japanese from British Columbia.

Present wartime regulations prohibit Japanese from living less than 100 miles from the Pacific coast,
Mr. Bracken added, and the Progressive Conservative policy is that even in peace time this protective zone would be increased to 300 miles.

Declaring that in future Canada
must consider the allegiance of people allowed into the country, the Progressive Conservative leader said "it is bad enough to allow certain foreign nationals into our country but it is much worse when they continue allegiance to a foreign country."

U.S. Wheat Acreage
Goal Next Year Is
68,500,000 Acres
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The United States war food administration yesterday announced wheat acreage goals for 1945 as approximately 68,500,000 acres, or 1,000,000 acres more than that planned for harvest this year.

The combined 1945 state goals indicate an increase of 13,500,000 acres over the number planned for harvest in 1943, Marvin Jones, war food administrator, announced.

The W.F.A. recommended however that the goals finally established be regarded "as a maximum for 1945 plantings and that any planting beyond the goal levels be discouraged."

Reach Accord With de Gaulle On Civil Rule

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—(AP)—Britain, the United States and the French National Committee are ready to sign formal agreements on civil administration of liberated French territory by the committee, it was learned last night.

The United States is signing at the "military level" thus, one official explained, the agreement lacks the status of a treaty and is not subject to the time-consuming process of senate ratification. Also this method avoids any appearance of a political commitment to the French committee.

PROVIDE LEND-LEASE
A separate and parallel memorandum is being signed to provide for lend-lease shipments to the French.

The arrangements made by Britain and the French committee and the United States and French are substantially the same on all points. They provide essentially that Gen. Eisenhower will have supreme authority in France so long as the war continues there.

Gen. Eisenhower is to retain direct control of all military areas, including the combat zones and rear-area supply depots and the like. He is to turn over to the French for civil administration all other rear areas. It is up to him to fix the limits of the military and non-military areas.

One unexpected clause in the agreements, written in at the insistence of American conferees, provides there should be no French censorship of Allied correspondents in France. That means that only military censorship can be applied.

MAY OPEN CAPITAL
Signing of the agreements in conjunction with the swift advance of Allied armies in France is taken here to mean that the French committee, under Gen. de Gaulle, may open its own capital in Metropolitan France soon, moving from Algiers.

King in Favor Of Indemnities Free of Taxes

OTTAWA, Aug. 15—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night in the Commons that in the next parliament he will support any move to make the indemnity of members of parliament free of taxes.

Just before the Commons adjourned Mr. King referred to a question debated earlier in the session, the incidence of income tax which cuts members $4,000 indemnity down to about $2,800.

"I look on the indemnity as something that is provided to secure the independence of members of parliament," he said, "and if part of it is taken away by taxation there is less assurance of independence."

NO IMMEDIATE CHANGE
He said he agreed with Finance Minister Lloyd that no change should be made during the life of the present parliament but as an election approached he was concerned about the independence of members and the calibre of representation in parliament. The House was in danger of losing some of its ablest and most experienced members, not because they would be defeated, but because they would not be candidates since they could not afford to do so.

Mr. King said he could not say whether he would be in the next parliament or not. If he was in it, whether on the government side or on the opposition, he would support the move to make indemnities tax-free, and if he was not in parliament he would support it as a citizen.

It was of the utmost importance that the House of Commons be as representative as possible. He quoted Lloyd George on a measure to pay members of the British parliament many years ago as saying that the absence of proper payment made for a House comprised of members of privileged classes.

WIDE REPRESENTATION
"I feel," he added, "that in these times of all times we should seek to broaden the base of representation and have members from all sections of the population, from the ranks of labor, from agriculture, from the men now in the armed forces and a larger number of women."

Unless the indemnity was sufficient the members would be largely those who were so independent financially that they were very wealthy, men who could not earn a fair income in other ways or men who accepted financial assistance from and so were obligated to some corporation or association or individual.

"In other words," said Mr. King, "we will have a privileged class here at a time when the world, probably in the worst possible way, is trying to get rid of privilege."

The problems confronting the Canadian parliament from now on would be greater than ever before. They would be world problems as well as domestic problems. This would call for the highest possible calibre of men representing the people.

Canadian Warship Given New "Task"
OTTAWA, Aug. 15—(CP)—The destroyer Gatineau, whose record of sea action in this war equals that of any other Canadian naval vessel, has been assigned new duties after months of anti-submarine patrol, strenuous rehearsals for D-day and patrol operations in the channel during the invasion. Navy Minister Macdonald announced last night.

He did not disclose, however, just what new task has been given the vessel whose actions have included the probable destruction of an E-boat, "assistants" in successful attacks on two U-boats and battles with robot bombs which the Germans began to hurl at Britain while the ship was on invasion patrol duty.

The Gatineau, dubbed one of the "sea-going" ships in the Canadian service because she has spent more than 80 per cent of her time at sea since she was recommissioned a year ago, is the former Express of the Royal Navy.

German Prisoners Staff Factory in Internment Camp

—Canadian Army Photos

Six hundred carloads of supplies useful to Canada have been turned out in the last 12 months by prisoners-of-war in one of Canada's largest internment camps it has just been revealed. The works program, directed by 20 officers and men of the Veterans' Guard of Canada has moved into the big business brackets, and these pictures, first to be released of factory operations in a Canadian prisoner-of-war camp, show some of the work. The camp, located near Montreal and officially designated as internment camp 42, is commanded by Lt. Col. W. D. Graham, M.C., V.D., of Belleville, Ont. (top left) and a view of one section of the prisoners' living quarters is shown, centre left. One article manufactured is wooden shoe trees and at top right Lt.

D. M. Aird of Toronto, in charge of this branch of the work, checks a shipment with one of the prisoners engaged in the factory. All articles manufactured are carefully examined before being passed and (at centre right) Joseph Daoust, inspector of furnishing and bedding, examines hospital operating masks turned out by prisoners in the sewing shop. Stretcher carriers for conveying wounded men are a big item on the factory production sheet and (in lower photo) two prisoner-of-war technicians are pictured working on one of the carriers. Prisoners are paid for their work and deal with camp authorities through an official camp "spokesman." Majority are German merchant seamen, many with highly skilled trades as background for their camp activities.

Four Face Trial In Hot-Stove Torture Death

KENORA, Aug. 15—(CP)—Four men, charged with the hot-stove torture death of Mrs. Viola Jamieson of Flanders, Ont., were committed for trial yesterday following preliminary hearing. The men charged with murder are George Skrynnyk, 38; his brother, Anthony, 23, and Elno Tilloner, 19, all arrested in northwestern Ontario, and William Schmidt, taken into custody Aug. 9 at Morris, Man.

Mrs. Jamieson died in hospital July 13, three weeks after three men entered her Flanders home, 50 miles east of Fort Frances, Ont., held flaming newspapers against her limbs and finally placed her on a hot stove in attempt to make her disclose the hiding place of her money.

DIED OF BURNS
Dr. O. Donnell of Fort Frances, who performed the post-mortem on the woman's body, said death was caused by burns.

George Armstrong of Fort Frances, testified that he had been working on road construction nearby and went to the Jamieson home after Mrs. Jamieson's son had summoned him.

He said he went to the root house and found the woman partly buried in gravel and suffering severe back burns. Armstrong said he took her to his camp, then put her on a train for Fort Frances.

Sgt. Ralph Wonnacott of Ottawa, Royal Canadian Mounted Police fingerprint expert, said he had examined two glass sealers and a lamp glass from the Jamieson home.

PRINT IDENTIFIED
A print on one of the sealers was identified as the right thumb of Skrynnyk and one on the lamp glass as a finger of Tilloner.

Mrs. Pearl Lee of Fort Frances said that Schmidt told her he, the Skrynnyk brothers and Tilloner had performed the crime. She said he told her the Skrynnyks planned it and that he attempted to delay it.

Isaac Sheldon, 30, who said he had lived with Mrs. Jamieson for the past six years, testified that $1,300 was stolen from the home early in June. He said $1,000 belonged to her and $300 to him. Another $700 was still hidden on the premises in a sealer.

None of the men charged testified. Cecil L. Snyder, K.C., deputy attorney-general of Ontario, conducted the crown's case.

Urges Govt. Cancel Debts of Soldiers

OTTAWA, Aug. 15—(CP)—Robert Fair, Social Credit member for Battle River constituency in Alberta, urged his favorite case in the Commons last night—that of the soldier settlers of the western provinces.

He wanted the government to write off nearly $8,000,000 outstanding on loans to veterans of the First Great War to establish farms in that part of Canada.

Resources Minister Crerar said that a veteran's delegation had already made representations to the government and these would receive "full consideration" shortly.

"Until they have received the consideration of the government I am unable to say what the final action will be," he said.

He added that settlers voluntarily had made payments of more than $1,250,000 in the last five years and the department had not asked for the payments.

SNOW SAVED FOR DRINKING
In the desert ranges of the west, sheepmen sometimes cover snowdrifts with straw to slacken melting and so furnish water to tide them over early dry seasons.
